STRIKE CLASH AT PAWTUCKET

Police Draw Clubs and Riot Guns to Halt Disturbance at Mill Gate

Four Girls on Way to Work Assaulted—Several Men Clubbed—Two Arrested

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Feb. 20.—Police and several hundred strike sympathizers had trouble today in front of the Jencks Spinning Co.'s plant when pickets and others attempted to interfere with employees of the company on their way to work. The police say that after four girls were assaulted, they drew their clubs and succeeded in driving the crowd back, but the latter made another attempt to reach the gates and meet. Bailors who were in charge of the 18 officers on duty drew their revolvers and threatened to shoot. He also ordered the policemen, who were armed with riot guns, to put their weapons to their shoulders and shoot if the mob attempted to approach nearer the gates of the plant. This had the effect of keeping the crowd at a distance. Several of the strike sympathizers are nursing sore heads as a result of their coming in contact with the police.

BISHOP GAILOR CALLS DRY LAW A MISTAKE

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Bishop Thomas P. Gailor, president of the National Council of the Episcopal church, said in an address here last night that he believed "the 18th amendment was a mistake." He also said that he believed in the modification of the Volstead law.

"I am in favor of morality," he said, "and I personally observe the Volstead law but I am opposed to putting summary laws of so drastic a character in the constitution."

NEAR-RIOTS REPORTED

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 20.—The fifth week of the textile strike in the Pawtucket valley opened today with near-riots reported from Natick and Pawtucket. In both cases, the disturbances were due to efforts by the mill owners to move material from their plants with outside labor. Strike sympathizers surrounded trucks sent to the mills, drove the men from the machines and forced the cancellation of the work inland. One man was hurt in the Natick disorders. No arrests were made.

LOCAL LABOR UNIONS RALLY TO SUPPORT OF MILL STRIKERS

Big Rally Tomorrow Evening—State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration Representative Confers With Strike Leaders—Encouraging News From Manchester and Lawrence Meetings—Lewis Shea of Lowell Elected Vice President of the New England Conference Board

Determined to support with every resource at their command the demands of the striking textile workers of Lowell and vicinity for decent living wages, representatives of all other labor unions in the city decided today to hold a monster rally tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in Trades & Labor hall, Central street.

Although heralded but a few hours, announcement of the rally this afternoon brought an enthusiastic response from members of labor unions in every section of the city. This noon leaders of various unions flocked to Trades & Labor hall to congratulate Pres. John Hanley of the Textile Workers' executive board and also National Organizer Thomas J. Regan, who were instrumental in arranging the details for tomorrow's meeting and securing competent speakers.

Late this afternoon it was expected that important labor union representatives from Manchester and Lawrence would be here. The local textile workers prefer to wait until they arrive before announcing detailed plans for their reception and conference meetings.

It is said that International President Thomas P. McMahon would arrive in Lowell Saturday, Feb. 25, in preparation for the monster labor rally in Crescent rink on Hurd street, Sunday afternoon, Feb. 26.

State Board Man Arrives

Convinced that the time has arrived to obtain first-hand information without further delay regarding wage conditions and the cost of living in Lowell and vicinity, and secure the frank opinions of both wage-earners and manufacturers as to future needs of the textile industry here, the state board of arbitration this morning despatched Fred M. Knight of Boston, to Lowell and he was soon closeted with union representatives at Trades & Labor hall shortly after his arrival.

Mr. Knight's visit at this time is believed to indicate a desire on the part of the state board to offer its services freely at any time the textile workers or mill representatives desire them. In conversation this morning with textile workers' representatives and labor men from other organizations gathered at textile headquarters, Mr. Knight declared his readiness to remain here "just as long as necessary," if he could be of service to both.

Three Houses Blown Up By Bomb

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Feb. 20.—A farmhouse in the Italian quarter in Woodbridge avenue, Highland Park, was blown to pieces today and two others, nearby, badly wrecked by an explosion, which the police believe was caused by a bomb. No one was injured, first reports said. Ralph Woonough, 33, the only occupant of the wrecked house, was arrested pending an investigation.

"Graduate" Burglar Held in $6000

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 20.—Charles Benson, 39, of Philadelphia, possessor of a diploma from a Los Angeles "school of safe work" pleaded guilty in court today to two charges, one of breaking and entering St. Patrick's church early yesterday morning and the other with possessing burglar's tools. He was bound over to the grand jury in $3000 on each complaint. He is a photo-engraver, he told the court, and came here from New York because he was told there were "better chances here."

N. Y. Messenger Robbed of $22,000

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—William A. Russell, messenger for the Greenwich bank, was robbed of $22,000 in currency today by an automobile bandit who boarded the truck in which Russell was transporting the money to a downtown bank. The robbery occurred on 19th street near Seventh avenue.

SHEPPARD-TOWNER LAW HEARING

(Special to The Sun.)

BOSTON, Feb. 20.—The local delegation from the League of Catholic Women, headed by the president, Mrs. J. T. Donohue, which went to Boston this morning to register the league's protest relative to the adoption by this state of the Sheppard-Towner maternity law, was unable to be heard at today's session of the hearing before the committee on education. The hearing is to continue for some time, however, and the Lowell delegation will have an opportunity to present their arguments.

TAG DAY FOR LOCAL TEXTILE WORKERS

Permission to conduct a tag day next Saturday for the benefit of local textile strikers was granted this morning by Mayor George H. Brown. The request from the unions was made to the mayor by John Hanley, president of Lowell Textile council and Thomas P. Regan, general organizer.

LATEST NEWS IN LOCAL TEXTILE CIRCLES

Mass meeting of representatives from each Lowell labor union in Trades & Labor hall, Central street, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

First rollcall of striking textile workers at 9 o'clock this morning in Loomfixers' hall, largely attended.

Fred M. Knight, member of state board of arbitration, pays hurried visit to Lowell today.

Striking textile workers obtain permission from Mayor George H. Brown to have a tug day Saturday next to raise funds for the alleviation of any distress that may be reported among striking workers.

Local textile operatives receive encouraging reports from Lawrence meeting of organizers of the New England conference board of the U. I. W. of A.

Buy State Cotton corporation reports about half of stock three loans running, with yarn department practically on regular output, but weaving room short-handed.

Open meetings of textile workers started this afternoon at 2 o'clock, in Trades & Labor hall to continue afterwards and evenings for an indefinite period.

Textile workers announce that they have delegated no one to represent them in future informal or formal conferences with mill agents and that no attempt has been made by the unions to secure audiences with any mill agent.

TYPOS VS. SUNDAY NEWS

Contradict Statements of Paper and Its Editor on Union Matters

A well attended meeting of the Lowell Typographical union was held Saturday evening with President Thomas J. Durkin in the chair. The International Typographical union, showing the progress of the fight to establish a 41-hour week in book and job offices and announcing a further reduction in the strike assessment.

Considerable criticism was directed at acting Chief of Police MacBride over hasty preparations at the opening of the textile strike and other statements that he had made at the Textile council meeting on Wednesday night, and particularly the statement that certain newspapers in this city were enemies to labor.

The officers of the Typographical union were instructed to advertise the fact that the Lowell Sun, Courier-Citizen, Evening Leader and the Sunday Telegram carried signed up agreements with the Typographical union, were 100 per cent union in all mechanical departments and were the only newspapers in this city entitled to the union label.

A special committee consisting of J. Frank Burke and A. S. Baker was appointed to attend the next meeting of the textile council to refute statements made by MacBride and to explain the Typographical union's attitude toward MacBride and his Sunday paper. Delegates to the Allied Printing council and the Trades and Labor council were instructed along the same lines.

Sincere expressions of regret were heard over the death of Brother Thomas J. Mooney of the Courier-Citizen office, which took place on Feb. 1. The charter of the organization was ordered draped in respect to his memory and a committee on resolutions was appointed consisting of Thomas E. McKelough, John V. Donohue and Harry Morley.

Balloting on candidates for international nominations resulted in the following endorsements:

President, Walter W. Barrett; first vice president, D. J. Campbell; second vice president, James I. Hubert; for delegate to A. P. of I. M. S. Hayes, T. W. McCullough; for agent of Union Printers' Home, Joe M. Johnson; for board of auditors, David W. Walid.

Delegates to Arms Conference Arrive at Paris—Disappointed With Results

PARIS, Feb. 20 (by the Associated Press).—The French delegation to the Washington armaments conference reached Paris today. Its members giving the impression that they were disappointed with the results of their mission, apparently feeling that their visit had caused regrettable misunderstandings concerning France in some circles in America.

While the members of the mission declined to be quoted regarding the conference, it is learned that they felt disappointed because of the attitude in some American circles that France failed to enter the conference in the true spirit of modern diplomacy, that she was not ready to make sacrifices for the common good in lessening the burdens of world armaments, and that she is adhering to militarism.

WORLD WAR HERO LISTED AS DRAFT DODGER

Charles Dixie Mason, whose address is 132 South street, this city, alleges that his name was published in a local Sunday paper yesterday, as a "draft dodger," when, as a matter of fact, he still carries shrapnel in his right leg as result of wounds sustained on April 22, 1918, and on July 19 of the same year, he got it again, during the Meuse offensive.

Mason has an honorable discharge from the army, signed by H. S. Crofting, major, C.A.C., U.S.A., commanding. He served as private, first class K company, 23rd Infantry, Second Division, and went through operations at Verdun, Chateau Thierry and Soissons.

Naturally, Mason resents any intimation that he was not in the service, and particularly the stigma of "draft dodger."

Whole Problem Referred Back to Special Tax Sub-Committee of House

Question of Sales Tax to be Taken up at Meeting of Committee Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Majority members of the house ways and means committee referred today to the special tax sub-committee the whole problem of how the soldiers' bonus is to be financed. It was announced the sub-committee would meet tomorrow and would go into the question of a sales tax among other things.

Opponents of the sales tax began to lay their plans today for a fight against the proposition. Representative Dickinson, republican, Iowa, leader of the agricultural bloc, called a meeting of republican opponents for later today.

It was said that aside from referring the finance question to the sub-committee, the majority members discussed the Fordney bill as originally introduced and approved some slight changes. It is indicated that further action by the majority would await a report from the tax sub-committee.

HARDING REPLIES TO HITCHCOCK

Impossible to Furnish Information on Negotiation of Four Power Pact

Not Compatible With Public Interests to Disclose Confidential Matters

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—President Harding replying today to the senate on the Hitchcock resolution asking for information relative to the negotiation of the four power pact treaty, stated it was impossible to furnish the required information because most of the negotiations were conducted without the maintaining of a record.

"The president said it would not be compatible with public interests to disclose the confidential negotiations of the treaty negotiators but he declared that there were no concealed undertakings and no secret exchanges of notes."

REVIVAL NOT FAR DISTANT

Federal Reserve Board in Report to Congress Predicts New Era of Prosperity

Business Now Progressing Through Well-Defined Circles—Outlook Bright

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Business throughout the country, progressing through well-defined circles, is nearing the point of the upward swing of the economic pendulum, according to the annual report of the federal reserve board transmitted today to congress.

"There are those," the report said who believe that the beginning of revival is not far distant. When it does definitely set in, it will be followed in due course by a new era of prosperity."

Business, in one of its "long swings," from prosperity, the report said, has followed its usual reaction, which it describes as business activity and increasing production; excessive expansion and speculation, followed hitherto by panic and forced liquidation; a long period of slow liquidation, business depression and stagnation, and then revival.

"In the light of recent experience," the report warned, "we should remember when we again enter into a period of full prosperity that a reaction will follow sooner or later; and if the flow of the incoming tide can be controlled so that the crest may not be reached too rapidly nor rise too high the subsequent reaction will be less severe and the next period of industrial and commercial activity and general prosperity will be marked by safer methods, greater achievement along constructive lines, and by a longer duration than any which we have had before."

Reduction in Loans

The board continued its report to an account of the operations of the organization.

EMERGENCY MEN FOR THE STREET DEPARTMENT

One hundred and fifty emergency employees went to work in the street department this morning on snow removal and gutting work. This is the first batch employed under the authorization of the civil service to hire men in the existing emergency for six day periods only, said employment to be charged up to the appropriation of $30,000 passed by the city council at its last meeting.

While the civil service will approve employment of a man for six days, the board of public service, under the direction of the mayor, will be of the opinion that a fairer method of employment is to give each man three days, thus allowing a far greater number of men to get work.

Tomorrow a gang of men will go to the city ledge, to clean up there in preparation for spring activities. Four men will go to First street, where filling in the new boulevard location will commence.

Regular sewer gangs also were out today for the first time in a number of weeks. The French street and Pine street sewer jobs were reopened and will be completed if the weather remains favorable.

It is planned to have a new list of 150 men posted tomorrow for work beginning Thursday. The men now at work will continue through the holiday, the new men to take their places Thursday morning.

LIQUOR AND GAMBLING CASES

Disposed of—Many Speculators in Court

One of the largest crowds of spectators in the record of the district court was on hand this morning. When the session opened, the space about the room was completely filled, the benches densely packed, and a crowd in the rear standing on chairs against the wall. Noise from the outside interfered considerably with the conduct of the morning's business.

Two cases of illegal sale of liquor were disposed of, the defendant in one case receiving a sentence of 3 months in the house of correction and a fine of $150, which he appealed, and the other paying a fine of $100. A number of minor cases were disposed of.

Victor Mason, Hugh Muldoon, Nicholas Cordas and James Anastasidis appeared before Judge Bright, the first three charged with breaking and entering a railroad car and the last named with receiving stolen property. The complaint against Mason, Muldoon and Cordas was originally breaking and entering and larceny, but has been changed.

NO SALARY INCREASES PROVIDED FOR

It was learned today that while the budget and audit commission did not touch wages in its reduction of the city department estimates for 1922 by nearly one-half million dollars, no provisions for salary increases were allowed.

In a number of departments increases were provided for clerks in the estimates presented, but the commission did not feel that this was the proper time to grant them and, therefore, cut them out of their recommendations.

It was impossible to obtain any first hand knowledge of the recommendations of the commission at city hall today.

THREE-SHIFT PLAN

Investigators Report on Survey of the Larger "24-Hour Industries"

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—A survey of the larger "24-hour industries" in this country, to learn whether the three-shift plan of operation is economical, efficient and popular with the workers, has been generally adopted. It is estimated that more than $50,000 men are employed in other industries which operate 24 hours each day. These include so-called "heat" industries, chemical works, heavy or electrical equipment plants and public service industries.

The number of men on 12-hour shifts before the present depression was 300,000, the committee points out, emphasizing that American manufacturers are substituting the three-shift day for the two shift day wherever possible.

"Taking the continuous plants as a whole, the immediate effect of going to three shifts probably will be a substantial increase in labor efficiency," the engineers say. "But not so great an increase as might be expected, as to permit the paying of as high weekly wages as men would receive for 12 hour work, without increasing cost. It would be possible without increasing costs, to pay the men a weekly wage which once they had become used to the eight hour shift, they would much prefer to the alternative of a 12 hour day and 12 hour wage."

AMERICAN IRISH HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Preparations for the first annual banquet of the American Irish Historical Society of Lowell were made at the regular meeting of the society in Memorial hall yesterday afternoon and the committee in charge, headed by Mr. James O'Sullivan, chairman, and Mr. Frank Hogan, secretary, have outlined plans which indicate that the first formal celebration of the society on St. Patrick's eve, March 17th, in a downtown hall, will be a gastronomical, literary and musical feast. The tentative plans for a program include a paper on the early Irish pioneers of Lowell, to be read by Mr. Hugh J. Molloy, superintendent of schools, and community singing of Irish songs and choruses by those present. Dr. William P. Lawler is to be toastmaster and Dr. M. A. Tighe is to preside.

The tickets have been set at a low fee and those who have signed the charter list will be first considered. The membership list is now near the hundred mark and includes some of the representative families of Irish extraction in the city.

In the course of the meeting, one of those present asked as to the sectarian or unsectarian nature of the organization. The president replied that the by-laws indicated that those of Irish birth or origin are eligible for membership.

Mr. Patrick O'Hearn was elected treasurer to fill the place of Miss Lizette A. Nolan, resigned, and Miss Frances Masterson and Joseph Carroll were elected members of the executive council. Dr. M. A. Tighe presided.

CATHOLIC NEWS

Many social affairs have been arranged in the various Catholic parishes for the present week, the last before Lent opens on Wednesday, March 1, and the churches are busy preparing for its advent.

At St. Peter's church yesterday members of the boys' sodality attended communion at the 8.30 o'clock mass.

The mass was celebrated by Rev. Francis L. Shea, with Rev. John M. Manion assisting at communion. The high mass was sung by Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan, with Rev. Fr. Manion delivering a forceful sermon. On next Thursday evening the Holy Name sodality will hold a social in the school hall, and on the same evening there will be a meeting of the Immaculate Conception sodality.

At Rev. Msgr. William O'Brien, P.R., celebrated the 7 o'clock mass at St. Patrick's church yesterday and gave communion to a large large number of the faithful. The high mass at 11 o'clock was sung by Rev. Francis L. Keenan, and Rev. Joseph A. Curtin preached, announcing the meeting of the League of Catholic Women in the afternoon, the program arranged, and the contemplated action relative to the Sheppard-Towner bill. A minstrel show is to be given in Associate hall this evening by St. Patrick's sodality.

The Holy Angels sodality received communion in a body at the 8 o'clock mass at St. Michael's church yesterday. The pastor, Rev. John J. Shaw, celebrated the mass and Rev. Francis J. Mullin assisted in giving communion. The high mass was sung by Rev. Thomas J. Heagney, and the sermon was preached by Rev. Fr. Mullin.

At St. Margaret's church yesterday the 6 o'clock mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. Charles J. Galligan, and the other early masses by Rev. William P. Brennan. The late mass was celebrated by Rev. Andrew F. O'Brien. On Tuesday evening there will be a meeting of the Ladies' sodality, and on Friday evening the fourth and last of the series of what parties conducted by the sodality for the benefit of the new shrine of the Blessed Virgin in the basement will be conducted in the parish hall in the church basement. The affair will be under the management of Mrs. Daniel B. Poye.

The late mass at St. Columba's church yesterday was celebrated by Rev. John A. Hogan. Many communicants received the sacrament at the early masses. A smoke talk will be held in the parish hall on Thursday evening by the Holy Name society, and on Saturday afternoon in C.M.A.C. hall a musical review will be presented by the children of the parish.

preached at all masses, in connection with the minstrel show to be given in the school hall next Friday evening by the Holy Name Glee club, a matinee performance for the children will be given Wednesday afternoon.

The members of the Immaculate Conception sodality received communion in a body at the 8 o'clock mass at St. Michael's church yesterday. The pastor, Rev. John J. Shaw, celebrated the mass and Rev. Francis J. Mullin assisted in giving communion. The high mass was sung by Rev. Thomas J. Heagney, and the sermon was preached by Rev. Fr. Mullin.

At St. Margaret's church yesterday the 6 o'clock mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rev. Charles J. Galligan, and the other early masses by Rev. William P. Brennan. The late mass was celebrated by Rev. Andrew F. O'Brien. On Tuesday evening there will be a meeting of the Ladies' sodality, and on Friday evening the fourth and last of the series of what parties conducted by the sodality for the benefit of the new shrine of the Blessed Virgin in the basement will be conducted in the parish hall in the church basement. The affair will be under the management of Mrs. Daniel B. Poye.

The late mass at St. Columba's church yesterday was celebrated by Rev. John A. Hogan. Many communicants received the sacrament at the early masses. A smoke talk will be held in the parish hall on Thursday evening by the Holy Name society, and on Saturday afternoon in C.M.A.C. hall a musical review will be presented by the children of the parish.

LEAGUE OF CATHOLIC WOMEN HEAR HON. JOHN F. FITZGERALD

Interesting Address on "Women's Rights and Responsibilities" by Boston's Former Mayor ---Protest Against Sheppard-Towner Bill

In an address before the League of Catholic Women, at their monthly meeting in Associate Hall yesterday afternoon, Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, ex-mayor of Boston, not only gave a thorough exposition of "Women's Rights and Responsibilities," his chosen topic, but in the course of his talk dealt with problems of general interest to women as well. Among his utterances was a statement to the effect that if he were governor he would put a woman of the best brains in the attorney general's office, and see if she would put the profiteers in jail.

Prior to the afternoon's program, Rev. Joseph A. Curtin, spiritual director of the league, spoke on the Sheppard-Towner law, just passed by congress, and which is being opposed vigorously by the League of Catholic Women and other organizations. This morning a delegation of members, headed by the president, Mrs. J. T. Donohue, journeyed to Boston to attend a hearing on this bill at the state house at 9:30 o'clock, armed with the following protest:

"The undersigned citizens of the commonwealth of Massachusetts, believing that no action should be taken by this state until the constitutionality of the Sheppard-Towner law has been decided by the United States supreme court, and believing that the question involved in this law is not one with regard to the protection of maternity, but one involving the rights of the states and the very perpetuity of our American form of government, protest against the acceptance of the Sheppard-Towner law by the commonwealth of Massachusetts."

Mr. Curtin spoke at length on the bill, explaining its probable effect on this state and its citizens, and urging the league to line up solidly against it. After the program was completed, the petitions were circulated, and were signed by every member present.

Mrs. J. T. Donohue introduced Mr. Herbert Proctor, director of the choir in St. Patrick's church, Lawrence, who rendered capably an excellent group of songs, including "Dunna," the old Scotch melody, "Mary of Argyll," and "Smiling Through," by Penn. Miss Grace O'Day Donohue supplied an excellent piano accompaniment for the singer.

The Principal Speaker

Hon. John F. Fitzgerald was then introduced. He said that he was here under difficulties, as he had contracted two boils on the back of the neck, and he is taking them on a trip south. He interested him greatly to come to Lowell and witness such a gathering of women as that before him. He had intended to start south Thursday night, but, considering what Mrs. Donohue had done for the church, among other things, at the summer colony, he thought he should make some sacrifice, too.

He said that although he had not yet been invited, he would invite himself to sing "Sweet Adeline" before the end of the meeting. He said that when he began singing that song many years ago he got out of the statesman class into vaudeville and has since had a good time. Speaking of his recent visit, at which he sang this song, he related that Monsignor O'Brien told him he was good, the whole show, in fact.

In the Herald a couple of weeks ago, said Mr. Fitzgerald, he had noticed an article concerning the establishment of Lowell as a textile center 100 years ago. The following years brought rapid growth to the city, people coming here from New York, Philadelphia and Boston, as well as other cities, to interest themselves in the enterprise. To such men as Kirk Boott and others, who furnished the capital, goes a great part of the credit, but among these men he was glad to find a name with such a familiar sound as Patrick Tracy Jackson. People still think, however, that the Irish people are comparatively new arrivals. He quoted from the Herald article a statement that "On a warm April morning, etc., a man by the name of Cummings, accompanied by others, whose names denoted a common origin, came here to Lowell to take part in the work of building up the city. A Protestant church was founded and the men assessed from their weekly wage for payment of its construction, something which they resented and which caused them to build a church of their own. This, said the speaker, shows that the Irish people were here and had a large part in the city's work 100 years ago. They are not strangers, and while their names may not be found in high positions in the early history of the city, they performed the labor of its upbuilding. He also paid a tribute to the men of the people's largely represented in our city, French, Greek, Polish and Italian. The prestige of Lowell, Boston, Lawrence and Fall River depended on the old Irish stock. They were honest men, who performed honest toil and that fact is not to be forgotten.

He was impressed by the fact that the League of Women Voters knew that most of the people of the commonwealth came from foreign stock, believed they should be helped because they have no initiative. From the names of the members of the league, he would be led to believe that it was some society function in the Back Bay. They think others lack intelligence; knowledge of rights, obligations and responsibilities. That, he said, is why he points out the work of Catholics in Lowell 100 years ago. Today, a welcome co-operation of all classes is being manifested more and more, with the Irish people no longer considered as inferiors in any way, but as citizens with the same rights as others. Citizens who met their responsibilities in the recent war. The old condition prevailed in Ireland for 700 years, because England impressed the world that the Irish were an inferior race, who could not speak or think correctly; that for this reason they must be kept down. This day, however, is passing. In proof that people in this country held the same impression, Mr. Fitzgerald gave an account of a meeting with a prominent republican newspaperman, who afterward confided to him that he had expected to find him in the possession of a T. D. pipe and a bottle of whiskey. Speaking further on class feeling and prejudice, now disappearing, he said that the Irish people should forget the past; that the country may be built up by co-operation. He said that various reasons, narrow themselves for various reasons, but most of us want to do right. Very few people of the present day are narrow, and they are narrow because they misunderstand and are misunderstood.

The Present Day Spirit

The Catholics are now engaged in every line of industry. He has never heard of a Catholic priest to speak against men of any other sect. The press is also becoming more liberal. As a proof of the spirit of the present day, he told of the honors done the new Pope by peoples of other religions—Protestants, Jews and others.

Mr. Fitzgerald said that this part of the United States in particular is more foreign than any other part of the country, or, for that matter, most of the countries in the world. About 80 per cent of the population of this state is foreign born, while the old Puritan stock is dying out, this wonderful race having lost so many of its members in the civil war and through emigration to the west. Besides, they are not reproducing; Roosevelt's class in Harvard did not reproduce itself.

The girls' colleges are reproducing less than one half. This accounts for the fact that such a large percentage of the state's population is of the third generation of its members. With all this in view, it is vitally important that there should be the best understanding if we are to succeed, as success comes through co-operation, not division.

He hoped that women would become interested in the economic viewpoint, and not leave it to the men. If he were governor he would put a woman of the best brains in the attorney general's office, and see if she would put the profiteers in jail. A woman knows better than a man who is profiting; she does the buying. Under present conditions a man may be given a full term for stealing a pair of shoes, while others may steal shoe factories without punishment. Women are getting into business now, said Mr. Fitzgerald, and have achieved tremendous drives in business enterprises. Women secretaries are getting $10, 15 and 20 thousand dollar salaries. It is women's era.

Mr. Fitzgerald then compared the fact that New England with those of the South and middle West in regard to the cost of production. Our isolation places us under a handicap, and women should realize that New England can not afford to disengage but must co-operate with its neighbors. The railroads are bankrupted and the people are suffering because of lack of co-operation. He then related the short-sightedness of Boston men in the early days of the automobile, when there were only 65,000 in operation as compared with 1,000,000 at the present time. They said the "craze" would die out. The brains of Ford, whose name was known in Central Massachusetts, were not in Central Massachusetts, he could raise the price of a Christmas dinner, he now pays the largest national income tax. Co-operation, not pride of ancestry, accounts for the success of the West. We must take the same stand here; if we do not there is an question of what will happen, therefore, we can afford to be tolerant.

Sheppard-Towner Law

After relating his work while mayor of Boston, the laying out of playgrounds, the construction of bath houses and the institution of Mothers' day in Franklin park, in memory of his own mother, he said in conclusion that he hoped the ladies would take an active interest in the movement going on. In reference to the Sheppard-Towner law, he stated that the schools should be locally directed, not by Washington. The higher taxes here, and in other states, including New York, would make these states pay most of the expenses. Under the tremendous handicap which now faces us, he hoped that the younger women of the league would give Mrs. Donohue and Mr. Curtin something of themselves, as in that way alone could they do justice to their obligations. Those who are able should do all they can to assist the less fortunate. In co-operation with the wonderful priests and nuns of the Catholic faith, the women should assist in giving food and humoring the poor of their section.

Mr. Fitzgerald related several of his famous stories, and sang "Sweet Adeline" with Miss O'Donnell as accompanist, and the league orchestra assisting. He then rendered "Till We Meet Again" with the audience joining in the chorus with hearty vigor.

Mrs. Donohue announced that there would be no session of the league appreciation class on Wednesday evening, on account of the holiday, but that classes would be resumed next week. The league is about to form another class in elementary English—which has been in great demand among the members, and which will be held in the league rooms on Central street Thursday evening. Local school teachers have volunteered their assistance as instructors. Next Sunday evening at 7:30 Hon. James B. Conney will speak in Middlesex hall, Middle street, under the auspices of the civics class. On Sunday, March 5, an illustrated lecture on "Christian Art—Our Heritage" will be given by Miss Mary Sparks in Central hall at 2:30 p.m. The meeting was opened and closed by community singing under the leadership of Mrs. Joseph W. Green.

MINARD'S FOR PAIN LINIMENT

Doctor at 82 Finds Mothers Prefer His Formula to New-Fangled Salts And Coal Tar Remedies for Babies

Judgment of 1892 vindicated by world's approval of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a simple vegetable compound for constipation—So safe thousands give it to babes in arms—Now has largest sale in the world.

WHEN a man is in the 83rd year of his age, as I am, there are certain things he has learned that only time can teach him. The basis of treating sickness has not changed since I left Medical College in 1876, nor since I placed on the market the laxative prescription I had used in my practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

From a recent portrait of Dr. W. B. CALDWELL, Founder of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, Born Eldredville, Mo., 1839

Then the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of my Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of Egyptian Senna and other mild laxative herbs with pepsin.

Recently new medicines have been brought out for constipation that contain calomel, which is mercury, salts of various kinds, minerals, and coal tar. These are all drastic purges, many of them dangerous, and the medical profession is warning the public against them. Certain coal tar products will depress the heart; certain salts give rise to intestinal poisoning, impaction and rupture of the intestines. If grown people want to use them no one can deny them the privilege, but they should never be given to children.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with pills and powders and strong drugs, even if disguised in candy? My remedy, too, costs less than most others, only about a cent a dose. A bottle such as you can find in any drug store, will last a family several months, and all can use it. It is good for the babe in arms because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In the proper dose, given in the directions, it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal.

The formula of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is on the cover of every bottle, and the ingredients have the endorsement of the U. S. Pharmacopoeia.

$10,000 Worth of Syrup Pepsin Free

In remembrance of my 83rd birthday I have set aside the sum of Ten Thousand Dollars to be given away in half-ounce bottles of my Syrup Pepsin. Only one Free Trial bottle to a family. All are constituted now and then, and here is an opportunity for you and others to try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin FREE OF CHARGE. Ask for your free bottle today, simply sending name and address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 514 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Do not postpone this.

Girl Held for Shooting Her Brother

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Lena Russo, 18, was arrested today charged with shooting her 21 years old brother, Alfonso, during a family quarrel which started when Alfonso is said to have upbraided his sister for permitting a young man to call on her and remain until a late hour. Alfonso is in a serious condition. The girl told the police that when her brother raised his objections, as her lover was leaving, her father, Frank Russo, took her part. This so enraged her brother, she said, that he commenced to beat his father, whereupon she dashed into her brother's room, seized his revolver and fired.

No Salary Increased Provided

Today, they are now in the hands of Mayor George H. Brown, but he declined to make them public saying that he was checking them up. He indicated that he might have them ready in a day or two.

Tyler A. Stevens, chairman of the budget and audit commission, was asked for the figures as recommended, but he said that the commission did not feel in a position to make them public, inasmuch as the charter provides that they shall be presented to the mayor.

"If the mayor won't give out the figures, I'm afraid the commission cannot do so," said Mr. Stevens.

Practically every department head is wondering how he fared in the slashing process, feeling that he must have been nicked for his proportionate share, but just how much, is not known.

Member Mts of Information looked out today from various sources. One was to the effect that the public library recommendation was $1000 more than was expended last year, when the figure was $30,251.05.

The park department asked for $67,730 this year and it is understood that the commission recommended $61,000, or practically the same amount as was expended in 1921.

These figures could not be checked up authentically, but came from reliable sources of information. They are given publicly because of an evident widespread interest as to the recommendations of the budget and audit commission in detail.

In the District Court

of Patrolman Joe Connors, who, while trying doors along his beat one morning recently, stopped a team and found four large boxes of cigars, containing over $500 worth of goods, concealed in the wagon. These boxes were alleged to have been stolen from a car on the tracks of the Boston & Maine railroad.

This morning clerk and yard clerks from the N. Y. N. H. and I. railroad and from the Boston, and Maine were present as witnesses for the prosecution. According to their testimony the cigars were shipped from Fall River in B. and M. car 6222, destined for Franklin, N. H. In Lowell, all the seats on the car were found to be broken, but were replaced without examination of the interior. In Franklin the alleged shortage was discovered by the receiving and delivering clerk.

Connors claimed that Anastasio had hired a team from him to move goods. They secured the team from his stable on Elm street, and one of the men drove it away.

Captain Thomas Atkinson testified that he had talked with the men when they arrived at the station.

Anastasio and Muldoon refused to talk, but Anastasio who doesn't speak English, told Special Officer John Regis, acting as interpreter, that two men went to his store and offered to sell him cigars at 10 per cent off the list price. He tried to secure an auto to go after them with the men, and finally found Costas in a Market street coffee house, and hired his team. He went out into the country with them; he could not say what part. After Anastasio had talked to him, he did not go to his store but he did go to his store in Merrimack square. He said he had known him for about two months.

The attorneys for the defense, Daniel J. Donahue, J. Joseph Hennessy, and Hon. Dennis J. Murphy, argued that no evidence of guilt had been submitted, but the judge found probable cause and held all four in $500 bonds each for the grand jury. Muldoon, on the charge of carrying a concealed weapon, was fined $100, which he appealed and was released on his personal recognizance.

Sentence in Liquor Case

Joseph Wazner of 37 Church street, was found guilty of making an illegal sale of liquor, was fined $150 and sentenced to the house of correction for three months. He appealed. Wazner was arrested on January 23 and brought into court on the 30th. His case was continued until February 14. It was continued and a capias was issued for him. He was arrested Saturday night. A week previous to the arrest for the offense on which he was tried, he had been arrested on a similar charge, found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $100. He appealed and his case is now pending before the superior court. He claimed the reason for his default was because he didn't have the money with which to pay a fine and was waiting to obtain it.

According to the testimony, Officer William F. Furey went to his house on the night of January 23. Furey was accompanied by Officers Aldrich and Trudel, who waited outside. Furey testified that he knocked at the door and Wazner opened it. The officer asked for some liquor but Wazner told him he had been caught by the police the week before, but that he had fooled them.

Furey testified that he started to walk away when Wazner called him back and invited him into the kitchen, where he waited until Wazner returned with a bottle of liquor. Furey testified that he found a bottle of moonshine, upon being analyzed, was found to be about 23 proof. The officer said he was also given a drink of moonshine poured from a bottle which he pocketed. The bottle and gave Wazner a $3 bill. As he opened the door, Officers Aldrich and Trudel burst in, seized the $3 bill and Wazner. Wazner testified that he attempted to cover up with his foot, and placed Wazner under arrest.

Officer Aldrich testified that he and Officer Trudel searched Officer Furey previous to the raid and gave him a $2 bill, which they took the number of and which was the same as later taken from Wazner. Aldrich testified that he searched through a window and saw the sale of liquor made. Officer Trudel was not called to the stand.

Wazner testified that Furey came in and asked for some liquor but that he (Wazner) said he did not have any but that he would go out and get some. Wazner said that when he returned he found the officer the liquor in a tin can and a $2 bill on the table. He claimed, he said, that he did not want the money but just then Officers Aldrich and Trudel burst in, seized the $2 bill and Wazner. Wazner testified that he attempted to cover up with his foot, and placed Wazner under arrest.

Had Stull in Lowell. When Timothy O'Neill of Nashua, answered to a charge of drunkenness and was found guilty, the court asked, "Can't you get stuff enough in Nashua without coming to Lowell? Isn't the stuff better in Nashua than here?" O'Neill replied that he was better off in Lowell, because they are selling some pretty bad stuff here. With these words the case was filed.

Henry Pelletier and William J. Bourne were charged with drunkenness and each given three months in the house of correction, with sentences suspended for a year. The case brought to the police station covered with blood and said that his brother beat him up while Pelletier held him. Both men denied the charge.

Alfred Ahearn faced a drunkenness charge. His case was continued until tomorrow. He was ordered to furnish bail of $200. A similar charge against Lawrence P. Walsh was filed after the court had warned Walsh to mend his ways. Thomas J. Illies was found guilty of being drunk and ordered to pay a fine of $5. He was arrested on the railroad station Sunday where it is alleged, he was creating a disturbance.

Far Illegal Sale

Antonio P. Maradigo appeared as a first offender charged with making an illegal sale of liquor. He pleaded guilty and was fined $100. A similar offense against Leo Leonardo was continued until February 23.

Arthur Landry and Laura B. Duchesne were charged with a statutory offense. Landry was found guilty and ordered to pay a fine of $20. A request for time in which to pay it was refused by the court. The girl's case was continued until Saturday.

Labor Unions to sides in the present difficulty. To The Sun he said—

"This is my first visit really, although it isn't of course the first time I have come to Lowell regarding textile work and employment matters. I am coming here free-handed, with nothing to offer, but willing to assist in the solution of your problem. I hope to see the present wage situation straightened out in a way that will leave no ill feelings and everybody satisfied. Naturally I am anxious to find out so far as I can just how both sides stand, but it is really not my move. I am here to be of service if I am wanted."

For the present, Mr. Knight said, he had no meetings arranged with either the textile workers' representatives or the mill agents. He was not calling home by either side, he said, and therefore desired not to figure too extensively in the news columns.

Mr. Knight Is Welcome

Both Messrs. Hanley and Regan expressed pleasure at the visit of Mr. Knight and made the latter "at home" in Trades and Labor hall during the morning. Both textile union representatives said they hoped Mr. Knight would "do his coat" and get all the facts necessary. They promised him all the information they had from the strikers' side of the wage controversy, and Mr. Knight thanked them for their friendly attitude and declared that he appreciated it.

"There is a new angle to the labor controversy of today," was the way non-affiliated textile union representative put it this morning.

Reports From Other Cities

Reports from Manchester, N. H., this morning encouraged the local textile workers' union. Headquarter there are indications, they say, that the wage reduction may be cut in half or cancelled there entirely with improved conditions in the textile cloth markets. Yesterday's rallies in Manchester and Lawrence were largely attended.

In Lawrence, where the New England conference board of the National Textile Workers of America met, Lowell was well represented as usual. President Hanley of the executive board leading the trek to the sister city and playing important parts in the afternoon's meeting of the organization. New officers were elected for 1922, and Lewis Shea was elected vice president. He is a member of the Wool Spinners' local, and one of the ablest men in the local labor world today. He is familiar with every detail of wages, hours and mill outputs, and also has first hand knowledge of the prices of all mill goods turned out. As a speaker equipped with vital facts regarding mill profits, wages and mill expenses of 1922 Shea

Mr. Shea is one whose appearance on the new official list of this textile workers' conference, he is to represent the mill workers of four cities, Lawrence, Lowell, Maynard and Manchester, N. H., will help very materially in straightening out labor controversies everywhere, his friends believe. Mr. Hanley is one of his closest friends and a warm supporter. Mr. Shea also holds the position of vice-president of the Textile Council of Lowell.

At the Lawrence conference yesterday, the attitude and claims of the Lowell textile workers were outlined by Mr. Hanley and others, and unanimous support granted. Reports from all districts now affected by strikes or walkouts, were encouraging. Conditions in those cities where there are no labor difficulties at present time were reported as more thoroughly unionized than ever, with the U. T. W. leading the way. There is no unambiguous sentiment in many textile districts at all, so far as can be learned. The Lowell delegates returned home last evening. Mr. Hanley declares the rally one of the most important held in this district, with more delegates present and more interest shown in mill workers' affairs since the wage troubles came up.

Tax Day Announcement

"Tax Day" for Lowell mill workers on strike is announced for Saturday next, Mayor Brown granting permission. In a statement today, President Hanley said:

"We are preparing to alleviate the suffering of any of our workers in need of assistance. We are not being carried along with funds sent to us by the international organization of some people suppose. This is our own struggle and Lowell's struggle for decent wages, and we are not leaning on union funds while we are conducting this fight. The workmen out on strike, or many of them, will need assistance before the controversy is settled. All funds collected will be used solely to relieve any distress that may come to any textile worker who is in need."

All possibility of a general conference today between agents and union representatives vanished about noon, when it was announced at the offices of the Massachusetts Cotton Mills that Agent William Mitchell had left the city on a business trip and would not return this week.

It was not denied that labor headquarters today that possible negotiations between local striking textile workers' representatives and agents of the mills where strikes are on, are actually in the offing, but the first move must be made by "the other side," in the opinion of both parties involved.

The mill workers say it is not far there to talk arbitration when the mill officials show no apparent desire to meet the workers and discuss wage conditions.

At the Feb. 23 meeting in the Crescent Club, it was announced today, besides International president McMahon as speaker, will be Sarah A. Campbell, international secretary and treasurer, one of the ablest speakers for the union labor cause in the country. She is thoroughly familiar with the affairs of textile mills and the workers' wages of the past and present, and is expected to have an important move to bring to Lowell textile workers.

No further conferences on wage matters will be held in Lowell's hall, but morning roll-calls will continue, to be held there for the present, and strikers will continue to use the quarters for informal meeting places day and night.

Day State Cotton Mill

Not many strikers are seeking their old positions at the Day State Cotton mill, union representatives say. At the mill offices this morning it was said that present unloading operations are being conducted on about half the usual basis for work at this time of the year. The yarn rooms are working "satisfactorily," with help enough there, a mill official told The Sun, but there was a shortage in the weaving rooms.

However, "half-force" was the mill office's term for today's run. Several operatives who remained away last week showed up for work this morning, according to the office spokesman. No new action had been taken concerning the sales outlook is no more promising than it was a month ago, when former agent George Dearborn declared it to be "the worst" he had ever known.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Walter French Leighton and Miss Katherine M. Sheehan were married Saturday, at the Immaculate Conception rectory, by Very Rev. Lawrence P. Tighe, O.M.I. The bride-maid was Miss E. Vera Mullany, and the best man was Mr. Joseph W. Udel. The couple will make their home in this city.

Lemay-Pelletier

Mr. Joseph Alexandre Lemay and Miss Len Pelletier, two well known young people of this city, were married this morning at a nuptial mass celebrated in the private chapel of St. Joseph's rectory at 3 o'clock, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Aurelien Merrill, O.M.I. The witnesses were Messrs. Edmond Eno and Joseph Pelletier. At the close of the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, 28 Ash street, and later the happy couple left on an extended honeymoon trip. Upon their return they will make their home in this city.

Wholey-Hogan

The marriage of Mr. John J. Wholey, a well known young man of Pawtucketville and Miss Mae A. Hogan, a popular teacher at the Franklin school, took place this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Immaculate Conception rectory, the ceremony being performed by Rev. D. A. Sullivan, O.M.I. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Kathleen A. Hogan, while the best man was Mr. Timothy J. Wholey, a brother of the groom. Immediately after the ceremony the couple left on a honeymoon trip to New York and Washington. After April 1 they will be at home to their friends at 75 Third avenue.

COURT FINES MEN

TAKEN IN RAID

Twenty men, accused of being present where gaming instruments were found, paid $5 fines in district court, this morning. Eleven of them were taken from a house in Union street Saturday afternoon and the others from a house in Dutton street, about 1 o'clock Sunday morning. The Union street gathering had the following names: Serouha Farinka, Jose Parera Quinto, Manuel Cabral, Manuel Inacio, Everisto Rosa, Frank Santos, Manuel Gomez, Antonio Souza, Frank Souza, Manuel Costa and Manuel Ramos. The men captured in the Dutton street house were: Charles Pappas, George Nichols, Andrew Barocco, James Bates, Andrew Pappas, Nicholas Sparrow, Charles Collins, George Mellon and James Pappas.

ISSUES CALL FOR BIDS

City Purchasing Agent Edward F. Foye today sent out calls for bids to supply the water department with 1000 tons of bituminous coal, 500 tons each to be placed at the West Fifth street station and the boulevard wharf. Bids will be opened Friday at 11 a. m.

MISS M'CORMICK WINS

Father Announces Her Engagement to Max Orser, Swiss Rkling Master

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Mathilde McCormick, 16 years old today had permission of her father, Harold P. McCormick, to marry Max Orser, a horseman of Zurich, Switzerland. Mr. McCormick announced the engagement last night.

The romance of the young granddaughter of John D. Rockefeller was announced by the newspapers. Mr. Orser is not three times as rich as his father, who says he is a first cousin of the Swiss equestrian, as a love of sports and winter.

"Mr. Orser is not three times as rich as his father, who says he is a first cousin of the Swiss equestrian, as a love of sports and winter."

That Orser is possessed of noble blood and also has a reasonably large independent income, also was stated by Mr. Orser.

Max Orser's right name is Max von Der Muehl, Orser said. "His father was a German nobleman, Count von Der Muehl. His widowed mother married Sebastian Orser after Sebastian returned to Switzerland from America in 1855. Sebastian Orser had spent many years in America."

Sebastian Orser came to this country about the time of the Civil war, virtually penniless, according to Orser. He worked first as a lumberjack in northern Wisconsin and then spent several years as a deckhand and levee worker up and down the Mississippi. Finally reaching New Orleans, he acquired a small interest in a cotton concern and after a few years retired with a fortune estimated at $2,000,000 and returned to Switzerland.

Whether all of this fortune was inherited by Max Orser or whether it was divided among numerous relatives at ter Sebastian Orser's death, is not known here. "Max Orser is tall and statuesque, according to Mr. Orser. His erect stature and his riding ability are direct results of many years with the Swiss artillery," said Mr. Orser.

Friends of the McCormicks today said that the consent given to the engagement by the family, was in line with the training of the children. They always were given free rein in self-expression, so long as their own whims and desires did not seriously interfere with their welfare. Mathilde at one time demanded a separate apartment from the family in New York and the wish was granted. Later she decided to live in a hotel and there was no objection. Mathilde's desire to live abroad, even after there was no longer need for it so far as her health was concerned, met with no opposition from the family, it was said.

organization for the year 1921, without offering any suggestions for legislation affecting the board or the federal reserve system. The earnings assets of all Federal Reserve banks, the report said, amounted on Dec. 28, 1921, to $1,535,851,000, compared with $3,263,037,000 on Dec. 30, 1920, a reduction of $1,727,176,000, or 53 per cent, and a reduction of $1,886,125,000 or 56 per cent from the high point reached on Oct. 16, 1920.

This reduction in loans, the report explained, was accompanied by a steady increase in gold reserves and an almost continuous reduction in Federal reserve note circulation, the loan reduction continuing despite substantial declines in discount rates.

Gross earnings of the Federal Reserve banks for 1921 the report continued amounted to $122,565,000, compared with $31,237,000 in 1920, the falling off in earnings being due to decline in the volume of rediscounts and reductions in rediscount rates. Member bank borrowings, according to the report, showed a continued decline from $2,657,000,000 at the end of 1920 to about $1,144,000,000 at the end of 1921, due to a reduction of over $9,000,000 in the volume of federal reserve notes in circulation, caused by lower price levels and by the not important of gold amounting to $567,000,000, practically all of which found its way into Federal Reserve banks.

As a franchise tax, the Federal Reserve banks paid into the treasury $59,974,000 for the year 1921. On Dec. 28, the report continued, the Federal Reserve banks held a gold reserve of $2,870,000,000 and a combined reserve against member banks deposits and note issues of slightly more than 74 per cent. If the legal minimum reserve of 35 per cent could be set up against deposits, the report added, there would remain gold reserve of more than 97 per cent against Federal Reserve notes in circulation.

"For some months past," the report said, "there has been a marked easing of interest. Notwithstanding some unfavorable features in the revenue laws, the investment market is now absorbing securities at reasonable rates which could not have been considered a few months ago. Market quotations of Liberty bonds have steadily advanced until they are now approaching par. Good railroad and industrial bonds have also appreciated and there have been some noticeable advances in standard stocks. High community prices and great business activity usually mean lower prices for bonds and other securities yielding a fixed income, while reduced commodity prices with lower money rates bring higher market prices for bonds."

FELL FROM AUTO TRUCK

Frank Hardy of 123 Grove street, fell from an automobile truck in Willie st. at about 8:30 o'clock this morning and sustained injuries to his head. The ambulance removed him to the Lowell City hospital where he received treatment. He was able to return to his home later.

MINSTREL AND DANCE BY SANCTUARY CHOIR

If the advance sale of tickets can be taken as a harbinger, an immense throng is to be present in Associate hall this evening to witness the staging of the fourteenth annual production of St. Patrick's Sanctuary Choir minstrel troupe.

This event is always looked forward to with keen interest by their many admirers. Chief among these are the "old boys" of the choir who by their presence in former casts have aided in establishing the enviable reputation as entertainers that the sanctuary choir now enjoys.

The evening of each annual minstrel finds these "past performers" on hand to greet their successors, and if the truth be known, to compare "to-night's show" with those that they presented for public approval. This year more than any previous year is expected a large crowd of "old timers."

Brother John, who years ago introduced many of this city to minstrelsy has returned to Lowell from the south, where he achieved much success as a coach of dramatics. Again in his hands are the destinies of entertainments at old St. Patrick's. Those who attended the sanctuary choir minstrel of a dozen or more years ago will remember the new and original ideas that were brought out by the choristers in those days. Consequently many of the closer followers have been looking forward for this evening's performance to be teeming with freshness and originality combined with ginger and pep. Judging from this afternoon's matinee they are not going to be disappointed.

Everything this afternoon went off with a snap and a bang from the curtain raiser, a peppy chorus of southern melodies sung in four parts, right through to the successful final chorus. Walter Mitchell putting across the first end song, "Weep No More My Mommy" was greeted with rounds of applause. While Peter Kane following in solo delighted his hearers with that popular sentimental number, "Somebody's Mother is Waiting." During the next end song, "Dapper Dan," "Doc" Harrington demonstrated without a doubt that he still "kicks a wicked pair of shoes." The darky special, "In and Out," put on by Charles Franklin and Northern Casey, brought out waves of laughter from the hearers. John Casey was vigorously cheered after driving home the next end song hit, "Wabash Blues." The specialty number featuring John Sheridan and Harold Tierney was loudly applauded, while Teddy Stapleton singing "Ten Little Fingers" was well received. James Dolan, who appeared next, singing, "Dean Cry Ma Honey," showed a voice of rare quality. The number that followed, a novelty duet by Ray O'Brien and Mike Daley threatened the audience with convulsions of laughter. Appearing as the final soloist, Tommy Delmore, in his own pleasing manner, rendered that touching song, "When We Meet Again." The finale chorus, "Leaves Us With a Smile" by the entire cast with its rollicking Danny Powers sustaining the solos, marked the end of an afternoon replete with lively entertainment and prolonged mirth.

The choruses, songs, specialties and jokes were all sent over in such a manner that not a dull moment was thought of during the entire afternoon. The same performance will be repeated this evening at eight o'clock. Dancing for all will be enjoyed immediately after the curtain. Mr. Doyle's orchestra doing the honors.

"UNCLE JOE" ANNOUNCES HIS RETIREMENT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—"Uncle Joe" Cannon, who will retire from the house of representatives at the end of his present term after a service of 46 years, declared yesterday in an open letter to his republican constituents of the 15th Illinois district that the time had come for all heads to give way to young hearts, alert and active minds and vigorous bodies.

Writing, as he explained, on the golden anniversary of his first election to the house, Mr. Cannon said that in turning back his commission he did not wish to "shirk any responsibility of public duty, but simply to open the door of opportunity to younger men." Addressed to "My fellow Republicans of the 15th district," Mr. Cannon's letter said in part:

"The Illinois legislature having advanced the primary from August to April, the republicans of the 15th congressional district will in two months select a candidate for representative. I will not be a candidate, and make this announcement now, that none of my friends shall be induced by sentiments of personal loyalty to me in withholding declarations of their own candidates or in giving support to others.

"You have honored me with unparalleled confidence for a full half century, and I appreciate that confidence more than I can express. I have tried to merit it, but it has been said that all that grows, grows old, and while I hope I have grown in wisdom, I realize that I have grown old in years.

"A younger man will take my place in the house, get acquainted with the machinery of legislation and soon be equipped to meet every emergency that may come to a representative. He will have the advantage of my experience, but I have confidence that my successor, whoever he may be, will not alone represent the local sentiment and interests of the American people; for I have been credited with supporting policies for the benefit of the whole people, regardless of section or industry.

It has been largely due to the fact that I represent people who took the same comprehensive view of the nation as a whole and were ever willing to subordinate their own immediate desire to the welfare of the whole country."

THE MUSKETEER DANCE
What promises to be one of the season's leading social events is to take place tomorrow evening at Storrmack hall, 212 Merrimack street, under the auspices of the Musketeer club and the committee which was appointed to make arrangements for the affair do not hesitate in saying that a very enjoyable and enjoyable evening is in store for those who attend. The members of the organization are congratulating themselves upon having secured "Al" Forrest's Jazz Boys" to furnish the music and special mention may be made that Al and his boys have created quite a sensation among the dancing folks lately by the happy music they have been playing. The officers of the dance are as follows: General manager, Theo. Wilcox; assistant general manager, Bert Pernley; floor director, L. Douglas Smith; assistant floor director, Harry Stouffer; treasurer, R. Paul Dalton; chief aids, Eddie Reed, John Massey and Chas. McQuarrie.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

EVERETT TRUE

THE WORLD NEEDS GREATER FAITH

That the world needs more faith in God and that men need to have more faith in their fellowmen and a declaration that the good people in the world still far outnumber the bad, were thoughts expressed last night at the First Universalist church by Rev. Caleb E. Fisher, D.D., pastor in a sermon upon the question, "Is There Any Hope for the World?"

"A crime wave is sweeping through our country and through the civilized world," said Dr. Fisher. "Tragedies are being enacted that are causing pessimists to tell us that the end of the world is at hand. The present condition of unrest is the result of the recent World war. We cannot go through such a war as that and expect to come out of it as safe and orderly as when we went in. Wars are destructive; the reconstruction must come later."

Dr. Fisher touched upon the standards of the laws we are asked to maintain and felt that we could get along very well with fewer of the unusual type and stick to those that have been tried and found to be good for the greatest number of people. Continuing, he said:

"Don't get the idea that all men are bad and that there are more bad people than good. No man in the world has more faith in mankind than I have. I believe most men are good. As long as I find men helping their fellowmen and taking care of the sick I say there is no danger of losing the world. God speaks through human kindness.

"Put on the armor of God. Put faith in your heart and eternal hope in your breast. Get away from the idea that the devil is to rule the world.

"Let us go out and trust ourselves and trust our fellowmen and we'll see a different world."

TOWN MEETING IN CHELMSFORD

There was a large attendance at the adjourned Chelmsford town meeting, which was held in the Centre town hall Saturday afternoon. The result of the meeting was as follows: Article calling for an appropriation for work on Boston road, dismissed; the sum of $1500 appropriated for the trimming and preservation of shade trees; the sum of $1000 appropriated for the grading of the Westlands school grounds; article calling for the building of a new school at the West Chelmsford road, dismissed; article calling for the purchase of a new school truck, dismissed; the two articles relative to the fire department were accepted and $500 was appropriated for the purchase of 1890 feet of hose. It was voted to rename the so-called Stevens corner at the north in honor of Albert W. Vinal and the West Chelmsford school in honor of George R. Quessy. It was also voted to erect a memorial to the deceased soldiers of the village, at the north, at an expense not to exceed $3000, and the following committee was appointed to look after the erection of the monument: Rev. E. Ambrose Jenkins, John Monahan, Mark Ingham, John J. Garvey and William Carl. The following three articles calling for the payment of land damages to Dennis and Rose McCuskey: $550 for state aid; and balance due (if enough for services rendered building committee at Westlands school, were all carried. The sum of $35 was voted for a new flag at the Centre. The matter of an appropriation for sidewalk in the town was discussed and recommended that the matter come up at the next annual town meeting. The article to rename the Princeton street school in honor of Lieut. Egbert F. Tukey was dismissed, the meeting being given to understand that such was the wish of the family.

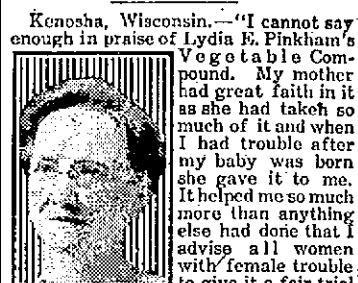

NO SESSIONS WEDNESDAY EVENING

The four state university extension classes meeting in Lowell on Wednesday evenings will have no sessions on Wednesday, February 22, according to an announcement made today by James A. Moyer, director of the state division of university extension. The classes postponed until next week are appreciation of music, business law, conversational French (Sections I and II) and oral English-public speaking (Section I and II). All these classes are being held at the Lowell high school and have a total membership of two hundred men and women of this city. Sessions will be resumed at the regular hours of meeting Wednesday, March 1.

The first regular meeting of the business law course part II which was organized last week as a continuation of part I, will be held on Wednesday evening March 1 at 7:30 o'clock. Patrick J. Reynolds will continue as instructor of the course and is prepared to handle a large group of students. The class is open to persons who took business law part I last year in the

YOUNG MOTHER NOW STRONG

Her Mother's Faith in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Led Her To Try It

Kenosha, Wisconsin.—"I cannot say enough in praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My mother had great faith in it as she had taken so much of it and when I had trouble after my baby was born she gave it to me. It helped me so much more than anything else had done that I advise all women with female troubles to give it a fair trial."

and I am sure they will feel as I do about it.—Mrs. FRED. P. HANSEN, 662 Symonds St., Kenosha, Wisconsin.

A medicine that has been in use nearly fifty years and that receives the praise and commendation of mothers and grandmothers is worth your consideration.

If you are suffering from troubles that sometimes follow child-birth bear in mind that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a woman's medicine. It is especially adapted to correct such troubles.

The letters we publish ought to convince you; ask some of your women friends or neighbors—they know its worth. You will, too, if you give it a fair trial.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat Less Meat, Also Take Glass of Salts Before Eating Breakfast

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush out the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

But less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts (take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acid in the urine, so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Adv.

SICKNESS THIS TIME OF YEAR

If You Tire Easily and Feel Run
Down, You Need Guide's
Pepto-Mangan

All over the United States the health of the people is guarded carefully by Boards of Health. Yet with all that care and watchfulness, a disease sometimes breaks out and spreads from home to home.

There is one safeguard that is reached by all physicians. That is to keep in good physical condition.

Guide's Pepto-Mangan builds up the blood by increasing the number of red corpuscles. It is then able to fight disease germs and carry them off.

If you do not feel right, start today and take Guide's Pepto-Mangan. Keep on taking it and notice how much better you feel.

Guide's Pepto-Mangan is put up in both liquid and tablet form and is sold by druggists everywhere. The liquid and tablets have exactly the same medicinal value. Buy whichever you prefer. Be sure it is Guide's Pepto-Mangan. —Adv.

awoke at dawn yesterday to the sound of pistol volleys and the rattling crash of barricaded doors as police raiders stormed a succession of long suspected opium dens.

Eight persons were arrested, including a young woman whose back was thought to have been broken in a leap from a second-story window.

A man whose frantic plunge for freedom she initiated was only slightly injured.

Two of the storming party had narrow escapes from injury. Bullets fired by unseen defenders passed through the hat of a detective and grazed the side of a federal narcotic agent.

Large quantities of opium with pipes and other paraphernalia were confiscated.

Under command of Ralph Oyster, chief of the federal narcotic division, a force of police and government agents first surrounded a suspected den on Mott street, in the heart of the Oriental quarter. Two of the party were stationed on the roof, with others on ground at fire escapes and other means of egress, while the main squad launched a sudden onslaught on the front door. Wielding heavy axes, they chopped their way through the door.

With the first blows by the attacking party those inside had made for the fire escapes and one man, John Barr, 17 years old, and the woman, Ethel Kelly, 45, had leaped from the balcony, striking a stone pavement 20 feet below. Both were taken to Bellevue hospital under guard.

The apartment, police reported, was a typical opium "joint" equipped with tiers of wooden bunks around the walls, with empty or half-filled drug tins strewn about, the pungent fumes of cooking pellets rising from tiny alcohol burners.

The examination of the resort concluded, the raiders prepared to leave the place. They had just recalled the men from the roof and gathered about the entrance when three shots rang out in rapid succession. Bullets whizzed past and sank into the woodwork about the door.

Barr, back into the house the detectives, weapons in hand, searched the upper floors, flashing their lights into shadowy corners and probing every possible place of concealment. No one was found.

Mobilizing, the party next descended on an apartment in Mulberry street. Here it met with no resistance, aside from barred doors and four prisoners were taken.

In marked contrast to the other, the Mulberry street resort was sumptuous in every particular. Carved mahogany furniture, luxurious couches of upholstery and velvet hangings replaced the mean pallets of the place on Mott street. Four pipes, one of them of ivory and inlaid with gold, were seized, together with supplies of opium and burners. A long list of names, presumably of patrons, also was found.

Screen Tempo Irks Otis Skinner in "Mister Antonio"

OTIS SKINNER STUDYING THE SCRIPT FOR HIS SCREEN
VERSION OF "MISTER ANTONIO." THE BOOTH TARKINGTON
PLAY IN WHICH HE APPEARED ON THE STAGE FOR THREE YEARS.

BY JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—Otis Skinner, now on a stag tour in "Blood and Sand," is studying the script for "Mister Antonio." He will soon begin a seven-act version of that play in which he appeared on the stage three successive years.

Skinner has been studying the script for his screen play several weeks. His characterization will be about the same. The thing that bothers Skinner is picture tempo.

"The camera is a tricky thing. I found I gained the best results when I moved very lazily," he says.

The latter statement was in reference to "Kismet," his first film. Picture Tempo

A more definite idea of what is meant by picture tempo can be gained from concrete examples of photography. Consider public personages in the news reels.

"The movements of persons making their first appearance before the camera seem jerky and unnatural."

If you recall the first pictures that were made of President and Mrs. Harding immediately after his nomination and compare them with recent news reels of them you will note a great difference. The former were sometimes ludicrous. The action of the presidential nominee seemed to be speeded up for comic effect.

Probably the president does not consciously slow down his movements for the camera now, but he has seen himself in pictures and seems to have learned something about acting before the camera.

A news reel cameraman recently told me the best actor outside the movie studios is the Prince of Wales. His highness is a quick-moving man, yet when the cameraman gets him in focus he slows down his action to studio time. It seems to sense the eye of the cameraman and unconsciously changes his action to picture tempo.

Greenway, the village belle, and Harry Hollingsworth, the leading man, will portray the role of Joel Bartlett, the big, bashful lover. Anna Loring will be seen as the splinter, Abigail Price, and Miss Florence Hill, the Ingennia, will be seen as Fanny, the orphan waif. The others of the cast will be pleasantly assigned.

Border by British Troops

BELFAST, Feb. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—The members of the Irish republican army football team, captured at Dromore last month, were released from the Londonderry jail this morning, in conformity with the order issued last night by Viscount Fitzalan, the viceroy.

The released men were conveyed in motor cars across the Irish free state border in Donegal by British troops.

The men were conveyed to the residence of their journey by Commandant Shiel of Donegal, Sinn Fein Union officer.

Calvin in Ulster

BELFAST, Feb. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—The situation in northern Ireland is considerably calmer than at any time during the last week and the fear of a clash on the southern frontier has been diminished to the vanishing point.

The rival forces, however, retain their positions along the border, but hope is expressed that the next few days will see them withdrawn.

Meanwhile the joint Irish commissions are understood to have begun operations. They will apparently institute a sort of patrol on each side of the border, keeping in touch with each other and using their influence where it may be needed in the interests of peace.

A party of Class B republicans challenged a Crossley Tender bearing a number of special to the Lagan canal line yesterday. The driver of the tender did not stop, whereupon a member of the challenging party fired, killing Constable McNeill.

Refrain remains quiet, and the cost of the recent violence is now being reckoned. Aside from the numerous deaths and injuries there are monetary claims for compensation amounting to more than $50,000 pounds.

Shin Feln Convention

DUBLIN, Feb. 20.—(By the Associated Press.)—Delegates to the Shin Feln National Shin Feln convention, which meets tomorrow, were already gathering in large numbers this morning.

About 3000 representatives from all parts of the country are entitled to attend.

The principal purpose of the convention is to decide the future constitution of the Shin Feln movement, but by the discussions and final vote will be revealed the comparative strength of the supporters of Eamon de Valera and Arthur Griffith among the Shin Feln clubs throughout Ireland.

It is widely believed that the convention will result in a complete cleavage of the organization and the formation of two bodies, pledged respectively to the Anglo-Irish treaty and to holding out for a republic.

HARDWARE MEN TO MEET

Annual Convention and Exhibition by N. E. Hardware Dealers' Association

An event that is annually looked forward to by Lowell home-builders and mercantile interests in general is the convention of the New England Hardware Dealers' association.

The 29th annual convention and exhibition is to be held in Mechanics building, Boston, beginning tomorrow and running through Wednesday and Thursday.

For weeks Lowell hardware men have been looking forward to this event. Every member of the trade in Lowell and vicinity has been energetically boosting the exhibition, keeping in touch with Boston headquarters, planning exhibits and making arrangements to attend.

The Sun is informed today that local hardware dealers are to have Lowell represented at the Boston show in more emphatic style than ever before.

Among the local concerns busily spreading the news of this week's attractive convention program are The Thompson Hardware Co., the Adams Hardware Co., Bartlett & Dow Co., and others.

A feature of the convention will be the formation of plans for a more constructive program for 1922, business hoping to overcome the industrial depression and start New England on the upward path.

Under the combined direction of President Arthur C. Lanson of Marlboro, P. Alexander Chandler, chairman of the convention committee, and Calvin M. Nichols, chairman of the exhibition committee, who is also treasurer of the association, and with members in all parts of New England co-operating, every detail of the elaborate three-day program has been completed.

There will be more than 150 show booths of leading manufacturers and jobbers, who will exhibit the latest hardware developments as well as present standard lines in tools, building supply equipments, paints and varnishes, agricultural implements, kitchen goods and furnishings, and the entire range of the general hardware trade.

Instructions have been given all exhibitors that, since its purpose is educational, their co-operation is essential in making the show an interesting and profitable one for the general public, who will be guests of the association by invitation, concerning the usefulness and possibilities of their products.

The convention really opens tonight, when the New England Hardware Association, the organization of manufacturers, jobbers and salesmen, which supplements the dealers' organization, will hold its night before convention, at the Boston Athletic association.

President Austin C. Brown of Boston is in charge of the program, which includes a dinner and a variety of entertainment.

The convention proper opens at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning with a discussion of personal problems based on the material submitted by the members.

There will be many of the most important matters to the trade. On Washington's birthday, several thousand clerks and managers will be on hand to take in the show and listen to the addresses. Thursday will wind up the exhibition and convention, and another good program is offered for the final day.

Dealers Will Pay More—Retail Price to Remain at 11 Cents

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—An inquest into the deaths of Joseph Moran, 55, and Joseph Hussey, 42, who tumbled in a struggle for possession of a pistol, crashed through a window and plunged four stories last night, will be held today. So heavy was the impact when the bodies struck that a first floor plate glass window was broken, although neither body touched it.

The fight began in the flat of a woman friend of Hussey. Moran, a roofer, was said to have taxed Hussey with responsibility for an election order.

Police Draw Clubs and Riot Guns to Halt Disturbance at Mill Gate

Four Girls on Way to Work Assaulted—Several Men Clubbed—Two Arrested

PAWTUCKET, R. I., Feb. 20.—Police and several hundred strike sympathizers had trouble today in front of the Jencks Spinning Co.'s plant when pickets and others attempted to interfere with employees of the company on their way to work. The police say that after four girls were assaulted, they drew their clubs and resorted to driving the crowd back, but the latter made another attempt to reach the gates and beat. Ballon, who was in charge of the 18 officers on duty, drew his revolver and threatened to shoot. He also ordered the policemen, who were armed with riot guns, to put their weapons to their shoulders and shoot if the mob attempted to approach nearer the gates of the plant. This had the effect of keeping the crowd at a distance. Several of the strike sympathizers are nursing sore heads as a result of their coming in contact with the police. Continued on Page Five

London Dockworkers Join in Boycott on Beer—Protest High Prices

LONDON, Feb. 20. (By the Associated Press).—A considerable proportion of the dockworkers and car drivers in the London area today elected to abstain from the National Federation of Transport Workers for a boycott on beer, which is an answer to the alleged excessive price being charged for the beverage and the recent cuts of workers' wages by the brewers. The following is the purpose of the boycott: "It is the duty of the nation-wide, involving a million dock and road transport workers."

NO SALARY INCREASES PROVIDED FOR

It was learned today that while the budget and audit commission did not touch wages in its reduction of the city department estimates for 1922 by nearly one-half million dollars, no provisions for salary increases were allowed. In a number of departments increases were provided for clerks in the estimates presented, but the commission did not find that this was the proper time to grant them and, therefore, cut them out of their recommendations to the mayor. It was impossible to obtain any first hand knowledge of the recommendations of the commission at city hall. Continued to Page Seven

LOCAL LABOR UNIONS RALLY TO SUPPORT OF MILL STRIKERS

Big Rally Tomorrow Evening—State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration Representative Confers With Strike Leaders—Encouraging News From Manchester and Lawrence Meetings—Lewis Shea of Lowell Elected Vice President of the New England Conference Board—Tag Day for Strikers

Determined to support with every resource at their command the demands of the striking textile workers of Lowell and vicinity for decent living wages, representatives of all other labor unions in the city decided today to hold a monster rally tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in Trades & Labor hall, Central street. Although heralded but a few hours, announcement of the rally this afternoon brought an enthusiastic response from members of labor unions in every section of the city. This noon leaders of various unions flocked to Trades & Labor hall to congratulate Pres. John Hanley of the Textile Workers' executive board, and also National Organizer Thomas J. Regan, who were instrumental in arranging the details for tomorrow's meeting and securing competent speakers. Late this afternoon it was expected that important labor union representatives from Manchester and Lawrence would be here. The local textile workers prefer to wait until they arrive before announcing detailed plans for their reception and the International President Thomas P. McLaughlin would arrive in Lowell Saturday, Feb. 25, in preparation for the monster labor rally in Crescent rink on Hurd street, Sunday afternoon, Feb. 26. State Board Man Arrives. Convinced that the time has arrived to obtain first-hand information with-out further delay regarding wage conditions and the cost of living in Lowell and vicinity, and secure the frank opinions of both wage-earners and manufacturers as to future needs of the textile industry here, the state board of conciliation and arbitration, despatched Fred M. Knight, of Boston, to Lowell, and he was soon closeted with union representatives at Trades & Labor hall shortly after his arrival. Mr. Knight's visit at this time is believed to indicate a desire on the part of the state board to offer its services freely at any time the textile workers or mill representatives desire them. In conversation this morning with textile workers' representatives and labor men from other organizations gathered at textile headquarters, Mr. Knight, who had his reading room remain here "just as long as necessary," if he could be of service to both. Three Houses Blown Up By Bomb

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Feb. 20.—A farmhouse in the Italian quarter in Woodbridge avenue, Highland Park, was blown to pieces today and two others, nearby, badly wrecked by an explosion, which the police believe was caused by a bomb. No one was injured, first reports said. Ralph Woonough, 33, the only occupant of the wrecked house, was arrested pending an investigation.

"Graduate" Burglar Held in $6000

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 20.—Charles Hanson, 39, of Philadelphia, possessor of a diploma from a Los Angeles "school of safe work" pleaded guilty in court today to two charges, one of breaking and entering St. Patrick's church early yesterday morning and the other with possessing burglar's tools. He was bound over to the grand jury in $3000 on each complaint. He is a photo-engraver, he told the court, and came here from New York because he was told there were "better chances here."

N. Y. Messenger Robbed of $22,000

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—William A. Russell, messenger for the Greenwich bank, was robbed of $22,000 in currency today by an automobile bandit who boarded the truck in which Russell was transporting the money to a downtown bank. The robbery occurred on 19th street near Seventh avenue.

Roush Must Join Reds or Quit Baseball

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 20.—Manager Pat Moran of the Cincinnati Nationals said today, while on a visit to his old home here, that Eddie Roush, outfielder, will play with Cincinnati or not at all this coming season. He is asking for salary and contract terms that the owners of the club have definitely decided not to meet. Moran yesterday traded Rubo Marquard and Larry Kopf to the Boston Braves for Pitcher Jack Scott.

Favor Lane as Asst. Postmaster General

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Senators Moses of New Hampshire and Calker of New York, called on President Harding today and urged the appointment of Leonard Lane of Vermont, to second assistant postmaster general, which office recently was made vacant by the death of E. H. Shaughnessy. Mr. Lane is at present in the railway mail service.

Separated 30 Years, United in Death

GENEVA, Feb. 20.—A couple named Stalder, separated for thirty years, have been joined in death at Kussnacht, near Lucerne. For reasons they never told, the husband and wife parted a month after marriage living in opposite ends of the village, bowing to each other on the street, but never speaking. Recently the wife died. The husband, on hearing the news, wrote a note asking to be buried near her, and an hour later he was found dead. Doctors found no indications of suicide and friends said he died of a broken heart.

MILITARY FUNERAL FOR PRIV. MURAWSKI

The military funeral of Priv. Joseph Murawski, who died in France July 20, 1918, as a result of injuries received on the battlefield, took place yesterday afternoon from the home of his mother, 8 Sullivan court. Services were held at the Holy Trinity church in High st. at 3 o'clock. Rev. Alexander Ogonowski officiating. The bearers were members of Lowell post, American legion. Burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where "lads" was sounded and three volleys were fired by delegates from the legion. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Joseph Sadowski.

LATEST NEWS IN LOCAL TEXTILE CIRCLES

Mass meeting of representatives from each Lowell labor union in Trades & Labor hall, Central street, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. First rollcall of striking textile workers at 8 o'clock this morning. In organizers' hall, largely attended. Fred M. Knight, member of state board of arbitration, paid hurried visit to Lowell today. Striking textile workers obtain permission from Mayor George H. Brown to have a tag day Saturday next, to raise funds for the alleviation of any distress that may be reported among striking workers. Local textile operatives receive encouraging reports from Lawrence meeting of organizers of the New England conference board of the U. I. W. of A. Any State Cotton corporation reports about half of slack-time looms running, with yarn department running on regular output, but weaving room short-handed. Open meetings of textile workers started this afternoon at 2 o'clock in Trades & Labor hall, to continue tomorrow and evenings for an indefinite period. Textile workers announce that they have delegated no one to represent them in future national or formal conferences with mill agents and that no attempt has been made by the unions to secure audiences with any mill agent.

Contradict Statements of Paper and Its Editor on Union Matters

A well attended meeting of the Lowell Typographical union was held Saturday evening with President Thomas J. Durkin in the chair. Several communications were read from International Secretary Hays, showing the progress of the fight to establish a 44-hour week in book and job offices and announcing a further reduction in the strike assessment. Considerable criticism was directed at Acting Chief of Police MacBrayne over his preparations at the opening of the textile strike and over statements that he had made at the Textile council meeting on Wednesday night, and particularly the statement that certain newspapers in this city were enemies to labor. A special committee consisting of J. Frank Burke and A. H. Baker was appointed to attend the next meeting of the textile council to refute statements made by MacBrayne and to explain the Typographical union's attitude toward MacBrayne and his Sunday paper. Delegates to the Allied Printing council and the Trades and Labor council were instructed along the same lines. Sincere expressions of regret were heard over the death of Brother Thomas J. Mooney of the Courier-Citizen office, which took place on Feb. 1. The charter of the organization was ordered draped in respect to his memory and a committee on resolutions was appointed consisting of Thomas B. Clark, John V. Donoghue and Harry Moxley. Balloting on candidates for international nominations resulted in the following endorsements: President, Walter W. Barrett; first vice president, D. L. Campbell; second vice president, James J. McLaughlin; for delegates to A. I. of L. M. S. Hayes, T. W. McCullough, Raymond T. Moore, William Young, Frank Morrison; secretary-treasurer, J. W. Hays; for delegate to Trades and Labor congress of Canada, George Murray; for trustee of Union Printers' Home, Seth B. Brown, Malcolm A. Knott, Thomas McCaffrey; for agent of Union Printers' Home, John W. Baird, for board of auditors, David W. Baird.

EXTENSION OF TIME IN SACCO-VANZETTI CASE

BOSTON, Feb. 20.—A further extension of time until February 25 for completing the bill of exceptions taken by counsel for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti at the trial in which they were convicted of murder in the first degree, has been obtained. It was said at the offices of defense counsel here today. The first part of the bill is already on file at the courthouse in Dedham, where the trial was held.

WORLD WAR HERO LISTED AS DRAFT DODGER

Charles Dixie Mason, whose address is 192 South street, this city, alleges that his name was published in a local Sunday paper yesterday, as a "draft dodger," when, as a matter of fact, he still carries shrapnel in his right leg as result of wounds sustained on April 22, 1918, and on July 12 of the same year, he got it again, during the Meuse offensive. Mason has an honorable discharge from the army, signed by H. S. Cunningham, major, G. A. C., U. S. A., commanding. He served as private, first class in company, 23rd Infantry, Second Division, and went through operations at Verdun, Chateau Thierry and Soissons.

TIME AND A HALF FOR OVERTIME

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—The United States railroad labor board in a decision today authorized time and a half for overtime work by train dispatchers after the ninth hour. Eight hours remains the standard for a day, the decision said, adding that heretofore the train dispatchers had not received overtime.

TO FINANCE THE SOLDIERS' BONUS

Whole Problem Referred Impossible to Furnish Information on Negotiation of Four Power Pact

Question of Sales Tax to be Taken up at Meeting of Committee Tomorrow

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Majority members of the house ways and means committee referred back today to the special tax sub-committee the whole problem of how the soldiers' bonus is to be financed. It was announced the sub-committee would meet tomorrow and would go into the question of a sales tax among other things. Opponents of the sales tax began to lay their plans today for a fight against this proposition. Representative Dickinson, republican, Iowa, a leader of the agricultural bloc, called a meeting of republican opponents for later today. It was said that aside from referring the finance question to the sub-committee, the majority members discussed the Fordney bill as originally introduced and approved some slight changes. It is indicated that further action by the majority would await a report from the tax sub-committee. The statement was made by a White House official today that many letters and telegrams had reached President Harding opposing enactment at this time of bonus legislation, while the legislative committee of the American Legion made public a telegram to the president from the Legion's national commander, Harford MacNider, asking that the legislation be no longer delayed. The letters reaching the president. Continued to Page 5

HARDING REPLIES TO HITCHCOCK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—President Harding replying today to the senate on the Hitchcock resolution asking for information relative to the negotiation of the four power Pacific treaty, stated it was impossible to furnish the required information because most of the negotiations were conducted without the maintaining of a record. The president said it would not be compatible with public interests to disclose the confidential negotiations of the treaty negotiators but he declared that "there were no concealed understandings and no secret exchanges of notes."

Almost coincident with the arrival of the president's letter at the senate the foreign relations committee of that body by a vote of 10 to 1, ordered favorably reported the treaty between the United States and Japan regarding the Island of Yap. The action followed a two-hour debate in the committee and was taken after several republican and democratic senators had indicated they would favor reporting the treaty to the senate but reserved the right to further discuss it on the floor. The single negative vote was cast by Senator Pittman, democrat, Nevada. The president's reply to the Hitchcock resolution, which was adopted by the senate last week, follows: "Responsive to senate resolution No. 227, asking for records, minutes, arguments, debates, conversations, etc., relating to the so-called four-power treaty, I have to advise that it is impossible to comply with the senate's request. Many of the things asked for in the resolution it is literally impossible to furnish, because there were many conversations and exchanges quite outside the conference, yet vital to its success. Naturally these are without record. "I do not believe it to be compatible with public interests or consistent with the amenities of international negotiations to attempt to reveal informal and confidential conversations or discussions of which no record was kept or to submit tentative suggestions or informal proposals, without which the arrival of desirable international understandings would be rendered unlikely if not impossible. "While I am not unable to transmit the information requested, I do, however, take this opportunity to say most emphatically that there were no concealed understandings and no secret exchanges of notes, and there are no commitments whatever except as appear in the four power treaty itself and the supplementary agreement which are now in the hands of the senate."

IN THE DISTRICT COURT

Liquor and Gambling Cases Disposed of—Many Spectators in Court

One of the largest crowds of spectators in the record of the district court was on hand this morning. When the session opened, the space about the room was completely filled, the benches densely packed, and a crowd in the rear standing on chairs against the wall. Noise from the outside interfered considerably with the conduct of the morning's business. Two cases of illegal sale of liquor were disposed of, the defendant in each case receiving a sentence of 2 months in the house of correction and a fine of $100, which he appealed, and the other paying a fine of $100. A number of minor cases were disposed of. Victor Mason, Hugh Muldoon, Nicholas Cordas and James Anastasio appeared before Judge Enright, the first three charged with breaking and entering a railroad car and the last named with receiving stolen property. The complaint against Mason, Muldoon and Cordas was originally breaking and entering and larceny, but has been changed. This case concerns the recent act. Continued to Page Seven

THREE-SHIFT PLAN
Investigators Report on Survey of the Larger "24-Hour Industries"

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—A survey of the larger "24-hour industries" in this country, to learn whether the three-shift plan of operation is economical, efficient and popular with the worker, has been generally adopted. It is estimated that more than 600,000 men are employed in other industries which operate 24 hours each day. These include so-called "heat" industries, chemical works, heavy or intricate equipment plants and public service industries.

The number of men on 12-hour shifts before the present depression was 100,000, the committee points out, emphasizing that American manufacturers are substituting the three shift day for the two shift day wherever possible.

"Taking the continuous plants as a whole, the immediate effect of going to three shifts probably will be a substantial increase in labor efficiency," the engineers say, "but not so great an increase as having exceptional plants—as to permit the paying of as high weekly wages as men would receive for 12 hour work, without increasing cost. But it is possible without increasing costs, to pay the men a weekly wage which, once they had become used to the eight hour shift, they would much prefer to the alternative of a 12 hour day and 12 hour wage."

AMERICAN IRISH HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Preparations for the first annual banquet of the American Irish Historical Society of Lowell were made at the regular meeting of the society in Memorial hall yesterday afternoon and the committee in charge, headed by Mr. James O'Sullivan, chairman, and Mr. Frank Regan, secretary, have outlined plans which indicate that the first formal celebration of the society on St. Patrick's eve, March 16th, in a downtown hall, will be a gastronomical, literary and musical feast. The tentative plans for a program include a paper on the early Irish pioneers of Lowell, to be read by Mr. Hugh J. Molloy, superintendent of schools, and community singing of Irish songs and choruses by those present. Dr. William P. Lawler is to be toastmaster and Dr. M. A. Tighe is to preside.

The tickets have been set at a low fee and those who have signed the charter list will be first considered. The membership list is now near the hundred mark and includes some of the representative families of Irish extraction in the city.

In the course of the meeting, one of those present asked as to the secular or unsectarian nature of the organization. The president replied that the by-laws indicated that those of Irish birth or origin are eligible for membership.

Mr. Patrick O'Brien was elected treasurer to fill the place of Miss Lizzie A. Nolan, resigned, and Miss Frances Angerson and Joseph Carroll were elected members of the executive council. Dr. M. A. Tighe presided.

CATHOLIC NEWS
Many social affairs have been arranged in the various Catholic parishes for the present week, the last before Lent. Lent opens on Wednesday, March 1, and the churches are busy preparing for its advent.

At St. Peter's church yesterday members of the boys' sodality attended communion at the 8:30 o'clock mass.

The high mass was celebrated by Rev. Francis L. Shea, with Rev. John St. Manion assisting at communion. The high mass was sung by Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan, with Rev. Fr. Manion delivering a forceful sermon. On next Thursday evening the Holy Name sodality will hold a social in the school hall, and on the same evening there will be a meeting of the Immaculate Conception sodality.

At St. Peter's church yesterday, celebrated the 7 o'clock mass at St. Patrick's church yesterday and gave communion to a large number of the faithful. The high mass at 11 o'clock was sung by Rev. Francis L. Keenan, and Rev. Joseph A. Curtin.

PLAN TO REVIVE BUSINESS

The statement recently made by Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover before the Interstate Commerce commission, bearing upon the economic conditions of the country and the most direct remedies, is attracting much attention.

Mr. Hoover showed very plainly that there is no loss as great and irreparable to the nation as idle shops and idle men; and today we have both. He claims that when business does resume, we shall need all of our capacity for production of consumable goods; but that then find it strangled for lack of transportation and that when our efforts are needed in other directions, we shall have to plunge into the manufacture of railroad equipment and construction. This is certainly a prophetic statement, and it presents one of the fundamental methods of curing the depression itself.

To start to expand the railroad equipment and to extend various systems would soon lead to better business; and this would benefit the country in two ways, first by relieving the unemployment, and second, by preparing adequate transportation facilities for the expansion of the future.

The present loss of confidence in railroad investment has caused surplus capital to pour into tax-free securities and foreign loans in vast amounts, which by careful management on the part of the government might be diverted to construction programs. Of course the lack of confidence in the earning power of the railroads has had a bad effect; and it is intensified by the fluctuation in prices, in wages and in railroad rates. But neither wages nor rates will ever get back to pre-war levels.

The railroads must be dealt with on the basis of their actual value, not upon their issue of securities or their burden of indebtedness. To overcome this situation, Mr. Hoover proposes what is apparently a wise and entirely practical program. He does not belong to the class that believes the railroads will never again earn profits and that they are not an industry worthy of investment. Neither does he believe that because private investors stand aloof, the government should also desert the railroads or assume a pessimistic attitude towards them. He would not have the government shoulder their burdens, but merely extend them sufficient credit to enable them to start upon a great program of construction and expansion so that when the business boom comes, the railroads will be prepared to meet it. Otherwise, the commerce of the nation will meet a setback for lack of adequate transportation that can readily be estimated at a billion dollars or over. This government credit in the opinion of Mr. Hoover could be extended to the railroads without costing the taxpayers anything, as he holds that the increased facilities would soon enable the roads to recoup themselves for the entire expenditure when the business boom starts.

This is certainly a suggestion that should receive serious attention from the government authorities. The money appropriated for roads and drainage reaches but a comparatively small number; but work on railroads would reach all the great centres of population and, therefore, be of much greater benefit to the country. It is estimated that such a move as Mr. Hoover suggests would give relief to about 600,000 of our unemployed who in turn would be thus enabled to buy what they need and this would help in the general business revival.

The effect of unemployment in 1921 decreased the consumption of meat about seven pounds per capita and the railroad or other work that would overcome this would be worth more than a 25 per cent increase in exports.

Secretary Hoover has studied the economic situation very thoroughly; and this suggestion appears to be the soundest yet put forward for the revival of business. But it is hard to move the government at Washington or to secure united action on any policy that would prove beneficial to the people. Despite this fact, congress has made several large advances of money to enable the railroads to carry on. Had the Hoover plan been favored, this money would have been saved and the railroads would have been enabled to embark on construction programs which, without government credit, they can never accomplish. This method offers the most ready means of getting the panting wheels of business started up again, to move with smoothness and regularity in the future.

THE COAL SITUATION

Secretary Hoover has declared that "the stage is all set for a strike in April." "We are not staging any situation," retorts the president of the United Mine Workers of America. The miners claim that wages are not sufficient for a decent standard of living. They claim to have plenty of facts to substantiate that assertion in black and white. The employers, on the other hand, insist that regardless of the standard of living—and that is apparently not entering into the present controversy, odd as it may seem—wages are too high for the coal industry to continue. Both the miners and the operators are preparing for the coming struggle that both sides agree, must come. And both parties also agree that a strike would be the proper thing to settle the long dispute over the cost of mining coal for the nation's fuel bins.

Officers of the miners have called them selfish; those who condemn the operators call them harsh names. Daily the reports coming from the mining areas give fresh indications of a portentous struggle in the offing. Handers of coal in the northern states firmly believe that a serious strike and one long extended would injure the country at large if carried on for any great length of time. Up to the present time, there has been no indication that a conference is to be held between the opposing parties in the controversy. Nothing has been said about arbitration. The miners say they are not obliged to show their cards now, and the operators say they expect to end mining operations on April 1 and await the action of the miners' unions.

Probably the general public does not know that there are many coal mining fields worked by non-union workmen. Bituminous operations in the non-union fields have already reduced wages and are going along quietly. The non-union fields appear to be working steadily in most districts and have no idea of closing down operations in April, when the union mines will close pending a discussion of wage agreements. The plea of the union miners is, that only so much coal can be held at any price at any time of the year, so that a uniform reduction of wages would not mean a uniform increase of output.

The union miners have pretty good arguments on their side of the debate. They have really suffered far more than ordinarily from irregularity of work, for the coal industry has been greatly depressed for sometime.

In the first nine months of 1921 only 258,900,000 tons were mined, as against 339,000,000 tons in the same period in 1920. The miners claim that living costs have not fallen in mining districts as they have elsewhere. If the strike comes it would seem to be proper to organize a board of arbitration and have the controversy thrashed out carefully. If both sides lay their cards face up on the conference table, the public will know which side deserves support. A long-continued labor war in the coal mining regions ought to be prevented at all hazards. There must be a satisfactory plan for the future working of the nation's fuel deposits that can be accepted by both parties interested in a prompt settlement of this annual struggle. At the present time more than 200,000 men in the bituminous mining industry are deprived of the opportunity of employment. Work must be found for them if the coal mining industry is to continue on a prosperous basis. Certainly some method must be devised without delay to correct present evils of slack employment, high prices and uncertain conditions in general in the bituminous regions of America. This is a matter that should engage the prompt attention of the government at Washington.

ANOTHER INNOVATION

The National Security League, which for some time past has been urging upon educational authorities the necessity of courses dealing with the constitution of the United States, has drafted a bill providing for such courses to begin not later than the eighth grade in the elementary schools. The only objection to this is, that it would form a diversion from the essential studies already badly broken up by special subjects. Four states already have such a law in force and the league intends to have the bill passed by every one of the other states, if the legislature thereof can be prevailed upon for that purpose. Since prohibition became a part of the constitution, public sentiment has been divided upon the merits of this particular provision; and the organic law of the republic is assailed in some quarters in which it had previously been regarded as sacred. It should be said, however, that the Volstead act is not a part of the constitution, but merely the congressional interpretation of the 18th amendment.

FOR DESTRUCTION

Destructive brain of Gregorio Arino, retired Spanish telegrapher, invents a machine gun that fires 2500 bullets a minute.

One constructive brain, like the inventor of any simple and useful device such as safety pin or pencil, is worth more to civilization than millions like Gregorio Arino.

British news comes from Germany. The Krupp gun works announces it will make enormous quantities of arm implements and machinery for Russia.

THE BUDGET REPORT

In advance of the final report of the work of the budget and auditing committee, it would seem that the gentleman who has had to tackle the estimate have done a very good job. If they can keep the tax rate down to what it was last year, the public will not have much reason to complain in view of present conditions.

CHARTER TALK

The talk of getting up a new charter movement is silly. It is backed by some of those who voted for Mayor Brown and by others who voted against him; but by political necessities only. We have adopted a new charter and common-sense dictates that it should get a fair trial.

Chairman Edward Fisher of the chamber of commerce is a member of the State Board of Constitution and Arbitration. He will be a valuable factor in dealing with the present strike. He stands for absolute fairness in all cases.

Those federal agents who have been sent to New England to deal with textile strikes should devote a few days to Lowell.

This week should see some practical step taken toward a settlement of the local textile strike.

The silver lining is showing brightly through the clouds of pessimism and business gloom.

SEEN AND HEARD

Flapping galoshes mean frequent pneumonia, say the docs. Tell that to Maria.

The new 25-15 price signs in the territorial shows presage the coming of the new era.

Speaking of precautionary measures, Lowell already has her water marlines, of course.

Young granddaughter of John D. is to marry a Swine. The Swinekeepers were always strong on the timelocks.

Some folks now wonder how certain film stars ever got that way, but any old-time baller-up in the Vendolite and Chartrous language who has been in California can explain, if you ask him.

Some Experience

"Have you had any experience in salesmanship?" asked a sales manager of a college graduate applying for a job. "O, yes," replied the other confidently. "I assisted for two years in selling the seats for the Yale-Harvard football game."

Self Esteem

Two office boys met outside the palatial offices of the firm that was put to work on the new building which employed over 2000 persons. Said the first boy: "Hello, Dick! Watcher looking in at the office just last week for? Are you trying to get back?" His friend smiled. "Now?" he said. "I just dropped round to see if they was still in business."

A Word a Day

Today's word is abdicate. It's pronounced—ah-dik-ate, with accent on the first syllable. It means—to give up power, to relinquish, to quit, to dismount from the throne, to cease being king. It comes from—Latin "ab," down, away, and "dicare," to proclaim. It's used in the sense of "abdicated" after he had been conquered in the world war.

The Old Was Clever

With tense, drawn faces, the class in the London school of art, with the task the teacher had set—to write a few lines introducing the phrase "A narrow shave." Little Tommy Bright eagerly took off his cap and pen and dashed off the following gem: "William Tell shot the apple on his son's head, and split it in two. It was a narrow shave."

A Thought for Today

Be more economical in the use of your mother tongue. Apply your terms of praise with precision; use epithets with some degree of judgment and fitness. Do not waste your best and highest words upon inferior objects, and find a way to have something which is really superlatively great and good, the terms by which you would do it. It is a dangerous thing to throw away such inferior things. Timely allusion.

Important Questions

Three questions you hear daily: "Have you rented your room yet?" "Where did you catch your cold?" and "What's the last day for paying income taxes?" Answering the last one is the most important. Payment must be made on or before March 15. Taxpayer who is late becomes subject to a fine of $10,000. If caught, he can be fined $10,000. Fined for a year and made to pay costs of prosecution and additional penalty for 25 per cent of the tax due. If he does not pay, a dangerous thing to monkey with. To avoid waiting in line, pay early.

The Sandpiper

Across the narrow beach we sit,
One little sandpiper and I,
And fast I gather, bit by bit,
The scattered driftwood bleached and
The wild waves reach their hands
For it.
The wild wind raves, the tide runs
As up and down the beach we sit,
One little sandpiper and I.

Above our heads the sullen clouds
Send black and swift across the sky;
Like silent ghosts in misty shrouds
Stand out the white lighthouses high.
Almost as far as eye can reach
I see the close-roofed vessels fly.
As fast we sit along the beach—
One little sandpiper and I.

I watch him as he glides along,
Uttering his sweet and mournful cry.
He starts not at my fitful song,
Or dash of fluttering drapery.
He seems to me with a fearless eye
Stare through his legs as we, well tried and strong,
The little sandpiper and I.

Comrade, where wilt thou be tonight
When the lone storm breaks furiously?
My driftwood fire will burn so bright
To that warm shelter canst thou fly?
I do not fear for thee, dear bird, the night,
The tempest rushes through the sky.
For are we not God's children both,
Thou, little sandpiper, and I?

—By Celia Thaxter.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

There has been much discussion about how cold it was during the recent cold wave. On this point different parties depended upon their thermometers which, like watches, hardly ever agree. It was noticeable that the Fahrenheit, the temperature recorded often differed widely and it is quite probable that the difference indicated lay more in the thermometers than in the actual degree of cold at either place. This view is borne out by the statement of a woman who avers that her husband taught a thermometer to read the cold and the first night it was in the house the family nearly froze to death. It was thrown out next morning and the temperature went up immediately.

The remarkable progress of the new Lowell kennel club, an institution, as we understand it, for the promotion of better canine breeding and the protection of animals properly licensed and in good hands at all times, is interesting indeed, because of more than one or two things that at first appeared to retard the organization's progress.

It appears that the new kennel association was not started as a money-making scheme as has been done in some other cities, and not for the promotion of kennel sales or for the exhibition of good breeds that are likely to take precedence over more human canines owned by the rank and file of the people. We are glad to welcome this new institution which appears to be in very capable hands, and looking over the list of officers for the coming year, we note also that two or three well known Lowell women dog fanciers are named therein.

The new institution which now has many acres of members is already planning an exhibition to be held sometime in May or June, and all money received is to be turned into the treasury to be used for club activities for the promotion of the breeding of good canines and the protection of animals in this need protection.

We believe that the kennel club in other cities have actually improved the current stock of dogs owned by inhabitants of those cities, and that more care is given canines where a regularly organized kennel club exercises some sort of supervision over general dogdom in its vicinity. Such a club has a wide field of activity in this city as it will undoubtedly increase the number of valuable dogs and secure better treatment for man's true but humble friend.

Beauty not only Skin Deep

The Soft Velvet Sheen of a Beautiful Complexion Comes From Within.

TANLAC, RATHER THAN COSMETICS, WILL PUT ROSES IN YOUR CHEEKS

ONE of woman's greatest charms lies in the beauty of her skin. Men admire the soft, velvety texture of its texture and women envy it, but the real roses are not put in the cheeks with cosmetics. Their use is simply an acknowledgment of fading beauty. Face creams, rouge and powder will not fill out a sunken cheek or rob a woman of her natural beauty. They do not, and cannot, restore the sheen of a healthy complexion.

What anguished-looking, careworn women need to bring back the natural bloom to their cheeks and the fresh radiance to the eye is the glow of perfect health. Nothing on earth can equal TANLAC for this, because TANLAC is the natural food of the skin. It is the only thing that can give you a healthy complexion—beauty.

Contrary to the old saying, beauty is not skin deep. Beauty comes from within. Unless your stomach is in perfect condition, you cannot hope to have a rosy, healthy complexion—beauty.

Digestive troubles ruin the complexion of women and men. Ugly pimples, blotches and blackheads are the surest signs that your digestion is out of order, that your stomach and liver are not working, that you do not assimilate your food and do not properly eliminate the waste matter, which poisons your system.

Is there anything more objectionable than a face with blemishes? For women, when and men, who are troubled with impurities of the skin suffer constantly and keenly their misfortune.

How needless to continue your body and mental suffering! TANLAC

New Turn in Taylor Murder Probe

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 20.—A new angle of investigation into the murder of William Desmond Taylor, was promised for today. The police did not make public the nature of the new turn the inquiry might have taken but reiterated their determination to continue their search for the murderer as long as there is a remote clue upon which to work. "I imagine the case will quiet down soon as far as the public is concerned," said David L. Adams, captain of detectives, "but the police department will never rest. The Taylor murder must be found."

$40,000 Worth of Whiskey Stolen

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 20.—Between 350 and 400 cases of whiskey valued at $40,000, were stolen early today at the Oscar Pepper Distillery in Woodford county, by 20 masked bandits who held up and tied to posts four guards and a passerby. The robbers are said to have headed for Cincinnati. Prohibition officers left here immediately after being notified of the robbery.

English Pastor to Go On Strike

BLACKPOOL, England, Feb. 20.—Rev. Adam Hamilton, the pastor of one of the Congregational churches here, has announced his intention of going on strike for two weeks. He said the empty pews in his church showed that there was something wrong, either with his sermons or the church.

ENTERTAINMENT AT THE BUTLER SCHOOL

Relative to the entertainment given at the Butler school last Friday, it is stated by the school authorities that over 100 witnessed the performances. All rehearsals for the affair were held after school hours, all costumes, even to the slippers, were made by the teachers, and the stage hands and callers were pupils. The sum of $175 was raised for the school fund, which is used to supply books for the school library, music for the glee clubs and necessities for the athletic association. The entertainment was given in conjunction with the Lincoln and Washington birthday observances. This may give the public an idea of what the public school teachers are doing in addition to their regular work.

IRISH SOCIETIES HOLD MEETING

A meeting of Irish societies was held in Hibernian hall last evening, and reports were heard on the progress of plans for the St. Patrick's day observance next month. It was learned that the Opera House had been secured for the night of March 19, when a concert will be given under the direction of Mrs. Edna Kelly Toye, the proceeds to go to the Particular council of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul. Exchange of the admission tickets, issued some time ago, for reserved seats, will begin at the Opera House box office on March 6, and reserved seats for a small additional sum. Miss Margaret Sharkey is ready to receive returns from the tickets, and William Collins, treasurer of the committee, is the person to whom checks should be made payable.

LOWELL GAELIC SCHOOL CLASS

Two hours were spent last evening in the study of Gaelic by members of the classes at the Lowell Gaelic school in the quarters of the Lowell Gaelic Athletic Association in Central street. The instructors, John and Christopher O'Sullivan, were well satisfied, and hope that the members will continue at the same rate of progress. During the session 12 orders were taken for books. On next Wednesday evening, Washington's birthday, at 8 o'clock, the next session will be held, and a large attendance is looked for. Registration has not yet closed, and an opportunity is presented for others who are interested to enter.

RECORD DRUG HAUL AT MANCHESTER, N. H.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Feb. 20.—What is considered by federal authorities to be the biggest haul of drugs made at a raid in New England for many months was the result when the police and federal officers held up an automobile on the street last night containing Max Weinstein, Joseph Levine, and a woman giving the name of Anna McGee.

The cargo of morphine and cocaine was found in the trunk of the machine. The three prisoners, who said

Berton Braley's Daily Poem Where Next?

I'm going on a journey—oh, just a little journey,
I'll go until my money pelors out;
And then I'll pause a little and try to earn a little—
You need a bit of cash to roam about.
And when I've some money, I'll take another journey
(Just think of all the journeys that there are!)
I'll go a little farther—oh, just a little farther,
Which, by and by, will make me pretty far!

I know a lot of people who talk of going places,
To China or Japan or Borneo;
But one way or another, well, they never do get started
For they never have the money saved to go!
But me, I take a journey in the general direction
Of the places I'd like to get—no matter where.
Then, I go a little farther, and I go a little farther
And—by and by I find that I am there!

I take it kind of easy and I never try to hurry
For you've got to have the cash to travel fast;
So I sort of amble onward, meeting lots of pleasant people
And I get where I am going at the last.
Yes, I take my little journeys to a lot of different places
As I wander underneath my happy star,
And I go a little farther—always just a little farther,
Which, by and by, will take me pretty far!

they were from Boston, were locked up. The federal agents here state that they had been trailing Weinstein for months, and believe him to be a ringleader for a drug gang working the entire New England territory.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS

The civil service commission invites special attention to the fact that in examinations held recently in Lowell, and other cities throughout the country, for junior engineers and deck officers, U. S. coast geodetic survey, and for assistant examiners, patent office, applicants were not secured in the number desired, and that these examinations will again be held on March 22 and 23, except that the examination for assistant examiners will also be held on March 24. Persons interested in these or other examinations should apply to the secretary of the U. S. civil service board at the local postoffice for detailed information and application blanks.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

An annual event on the calendar of Lowell council, Knights of Columbus, will be conducted on Wednesday, Washington's birthday, when the annual memorial mass for deceased members will be held at St. Peter's church at 9.30 o'clock. An extremely large attendance is expected by the officers, who have instructed members to go directly to the church instead of assembling at the rooms as in former years. Relatives and friends of the deceased members are invited to attend.

MINSTREL AND DANCE BY "SANCTUARY CHOIR"

If the advance sale of tickets can be taken as a harbinger, an immense throng is to be present in the hall this evening to witness the staging of the fourteenth annual production of St. Patrick's Sanctuary Choir minstrel troupe.

This event is always looked forward to with keen interest by their many admirers. Chief among these are the "old boys" of the choir who by their presence in former casts have aided in establishing the enviable reputation as entertainers that the sanctuary choir now enjoys.

The evening of each annual minstrel finds these "past performers" on hand to greet their successors, and if the truth be known, to compare "tonight's show" with those that they presented for public approval. This year more than any previous year is expected a large crowd of "old timers."

Brother John, who years ago introduced many of this city to minstrelsy, has returned to Lowell from the south where he achieved unusual success as a coach of dramatics. Again,

"UNCLE JOE" ANNOUNCES HIS RETIREMENT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—"Uncle Joe" Cannon, who will retire from the house of representatives at the end of his present term after a service of 48 years, declared yesterday in an open letter to his republican constituents of the 18th Illinois district that the time had come for old heads to give way to young hearts, alert and active minds and vigorous bodies.

Writing, as he explained, on the golden anniversary of his first election to the house, Mr. Cannon said that in turning back his commission he did not wish to "shirk any responsibility of public duty, but simply to open the door of opportunity to younger men."

Addressed to "My Fellow Republicans of the 18th district," Mr. Cannon's letter said in part:

"The Illinois legislature having advanced the primary from August to April, the republicans of the 18th congressional district will in two months select a candidate for representative. I will not be a candidate, and make this announcement now, that none of my friends shall be influenced by sentiments of personal loyalty to me in withholding declarations of their own candidates or in giving support to others."

"You have honored me with unparalleled confidence for a full half century and I appreciate that confidence more than I can express. I have tried to merit it, but it has been said that all that grows, grows old, and while I hope I have grown in wisdom, I realize that I have grown old in years."

"A younger man will take my place in the house, get acquainted with the machinery of legislation and soon be equipped to meet every emergency that may come to a representative, be it international misunderstanding or domestic trouble growing out of idealistic but impractical teachings at home. I have confidence that my successor, whoever he may be, will not alone represent the local sentiment and interests of the American people; for I have been credited with supporting policies for the benefit of the whole people, regardless of section or industry."

try. It has been largely due to the fact that I represent people who look the same comprehensive view of the nation as a whole and were ever willing to subordinate their own immediate desire to the welfare of the whole country."

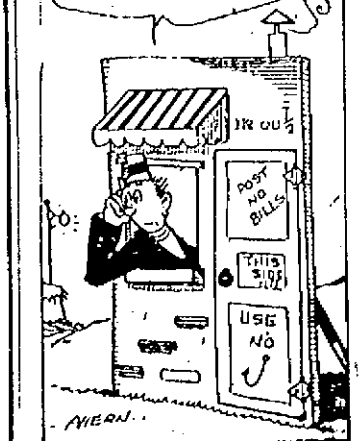

THE MUSKETEER DANCE
What promises to be one of the season's leading social events is to take place tomorrow evening at Merrimack hall, 212 Stearns street, under the auspices of the Musketeer club and the committee which was appointed to make arrangements for the affair do not hesitate in saying that a very enjoyable and enjoyable evening is in store for those who attend. The members of the organization are congratulating themselves upon having secured "All Porretta Jazz Boys" to furnish the music and special mention may be made that all the boys have created quite a sensation among the dancing folks lately by the snappy music they have been playing. The officers of the dance are as follows: General manager, Thomas Wilson; assistant general manager, Bert Fernley; door director, L. Douglas Smith; assistant door director, Harry Monette; treasurer, P. Paul Dalton; chief aids, Eddie Reed, John Massey and Chas. McQuarrie.

TOWN MEETING IN CHELMSFORD

There was a large attendance at the adjourned Chelmsford town meeting, which was held in the Centre town hall Saturday afternoon. The result of the meeting was as follows: Article calling for an appropriation for work on Boston road, dismissed; the sum of $1500 appropriated for the trimming and preservation of shade trees; the sum of $1000 appropriated for the grading of the Westland school grounds; article calling for the building of a retaining wall at the West Chelmsford school, dismissed; article calling for the purchase of a new school truck, dismissed; the tree article relative to the tree department were accepted and $600 was appropriated for the purchase of 1800 feet of hose. It was voted to rename the so-called Stevens corner at the north in honor of Albert W. Vinal and the West Chelmsford school in honor of George R. Quessy. It was also voted to erect a memorial to the deceased soldiers of the village, east of north, at a expense not to exceed $3000, and the following committee was appointed to look after the erection of the monument: Rev. E. Ambrose Jenkins, John Monahan, Mark Ingham, John J. Garvey and Williston Carl. The following three articles calling for the payment of land damages to Dennis and Rose McCluskey: $50 for State aid; and balance due Hector Clough for services rendered building committee at Westland school, were all carried. The sum of $25 was voted for a new flag at the Centre. The matter of a proposition for sidewalk in the town was dismissed and recommended that the matter come up at the next annual town meeting. The article to rename the Princeton street school in honor of Lieut. Egbert F. Toley was dismissed, the meeting being given to understand that such was the wish of the family.

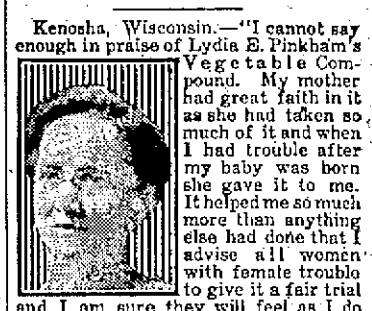

NO SESSIONS WEDNESDAY EVENING

The four state university extension classes meeting in Lowell on Wednesday evenings will have no sessions on Wednesday, February 22, according to an announcement made today by James A. Moyer, director of the state division of university extension. The classes postponed until next week are appreciation of music, business law, conversational French (Sections I and II) and English-public speaking (Section I and II). All these classes are being held at the Lowell high school and have a total membership of two hundred men and women of this city. Sessions will be resumed at the regular hours of meeting Wednesday, March 1.

The first regular meeting of the business law course part II which was organized last week as a continuation of part I, will be held on Wednesday evening March 1 at 7.30 o'clock. Patrick J. Reynolds will continue as instructor of the course and is prepared to handle a large group of students. The class is open to persons who took business law part I last year in the

Kenosha, Wisconsin.—"I cannot say enough in praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My mother had great faith in it as she had taken so much of it and when I had trouble after my baby was born she gave it to me. It helped me so much more than anything else had done that I advise all women with female trouble to give it a fair trial and I am sure they will feel as I do about it.—Mrs. FRED. P. HANSEN, 562 Symmonds St., Kenosha, Wisconsin.

A medicine that has been in use nearly fifty years and that receives the praise and commendation of mothers and grandmothers is worth your consideration.

If you are suffering from troubles that sometimes follow child-birth bear in mind that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a woman's medicine. It is especially adapted to correct such troubles.

signs that was held at the Lowell Textile school and others with a knowledge equivalent to that obtained in part 1 of the course. The postponement of classes will not interfere with the arrangements for the opening of the class in business organization on Friday evening, February 17 at 7.30. The new class will be held at the high school and will be under the direction of John J. Morgan, who has recently conducted a university extension course in salesmanship with a large enrollment. Enrollments for this course will be accepted at the first meeting of the class.

IF BACKACHE OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat Less Meat, Also Take Glass of Salts Before Eating Breakfast

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. Urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys stop you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person, shortly. At first you feel a dull pain in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jnd Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acid in the urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jnd Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jnd Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Adv.

THE WORLD NEEDS GREATER FAITH

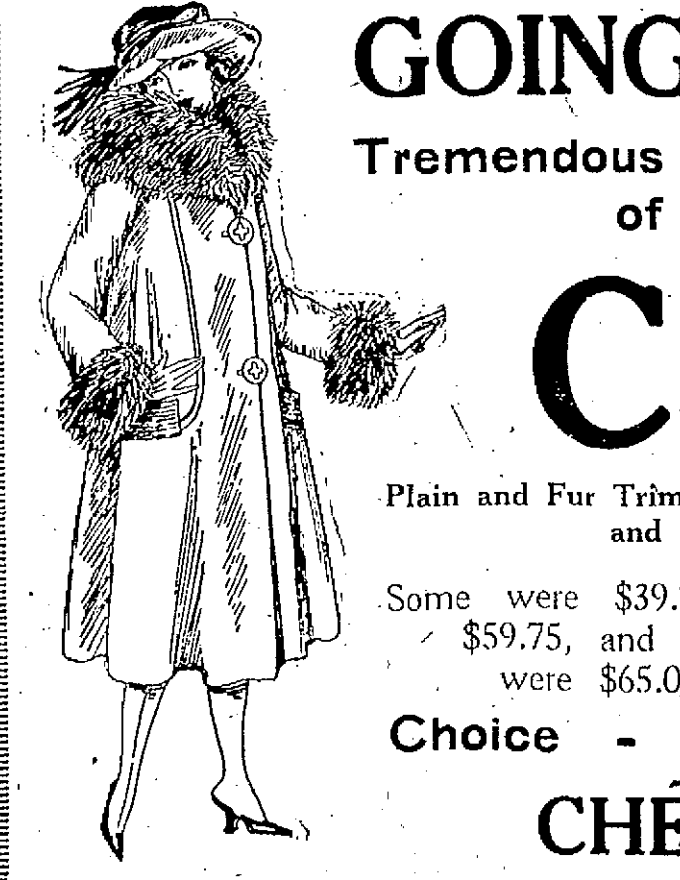

That the world needs more faith in God and that men need to have more faith in their fellowmen and a declaration that the good people in the world still far outnumber the bad, were thoughts expressed last night at the first Universalist church by Rev. Galeb E. Fisher, D.D., pastor in a sermon upon the question, "Is There Any Hope for the World?"

"A cynic wave is sweeping through our country and through the civilized world," said Dr. Fisher. "Tragedies are being enacted that are causing pessimists to tell us that the end of the world is at hand. The present condition of unrest is the result of the recent World war. We cannot go through such a war as that and expect to come out of it as safe and orderly as when we went in. Wars are destructive; the reconstruction must come later."

Dr. Fisher touched upon the standards of the town we are asked to maintain and felt that we could get along very well with fewer of the unusual type and stick to those that have been tried and found to be good for the greatest number of people. Concluding, he said:

"Don't get the idea that all men are bad and that there are more bad people

SICKNESS THIS TIME OF YEAR

If You Tire Easily and Feel Run Down, You Need Gude's Pepto-Mangan

All over the United States the health of the people is guarded carefully by Boards of Health. Yet with all that care and watchfulness, a disease sometimes breaks out and spreads from home to home.

There is one safeguard that is preached by all physicians. That is to keep in good physical condition. Gude's Pepto-Mangan builds up the blood by increasing the number of red corpuscles. It is then able to fight disease germs and carry them off.

If you do not feel right, start today and take Gude's Pepto-Mangan. Keep on taking it and notice how much better you feel. Gude's Pepto-Mangan is put up in both liquid and tablet form and is sold by druggists everywhere. The liquid and tablets have exactly the same medicinal value. Buy whichever you prefer. Be sure it is Gude's Pepto-Mangan.—Adv.

THE AFFAIRS OF JANE

awoke at dawn yesterday to the sound of pistol volleys and the rending crash of barricaded doors as police raiders stormed a succession of long suspected opium dens.

Eight persons were arrested, including a young woman whose back was thought to have been broken in a leap from a second-story window.

A man whose frantic plunge for freedom she initiated was only slightly injured.

Two of the storming party had narrow escapes from injury. Bullets fired by unseen defenders passed through the hat of a detective and grazed the ribs of a federal narcotic agent.

Large quantities of opium with pipes and other paraphernalia were confiscated.

Under command of Ralph Oyster, chief of the federal narcotic division, a score of police and government agents first surrounded a suspected den on Mott street, in the heart of the Oriental quarter.

Two of the party were stationed on the roof, with others on guard at fire escapes and other means of egress, while the main squad launched a sudden onslaught on the front door. Wielding heavy axes, they chopped their way through the door.

With the first blows by the attacking party those inside had made for the fire escapes and one man, John Barr, 47 years old, and the woman, Ethel Kelly, 49, had leaped from the balcony, striking a stone pavement 20 feet below. Both were taken to Kelleys hospital under guard.

The apartment, police reported, was a typical opium "joint" equipped with tiers of wooden bunks around the walls, with empty or half filled drug tins strewn about, the pungent fumes of cooking pellets rising from tiny alcohol burners.

The examination of the resort concluded, the raiders prepared to leave the place. They had just recalled the men from the roof and gathered about the entrance when three shots rang out in rapid succession. Bullets whizzed past and sank into the woodwork about the door.

Starting back into the house the detectives, weapons in hand, searched the upper floors, flushing their lights into shadowy corners and probing every possible place of concealment. No one was found.

Mobilizing, the party next descended on an apartment in Mulberry street. Here it met with no resistance, aside from barred doors and four prisoners were taken.

In marked contrast to the other, the Mulberry street resort was sumptuous in every detail. Carved mahogany furniture, luxurious couches of upholstery and velvet hangings replaced the mean pallets of the place on Mott street. Four pipes, one of them of ivory and inlaid with gold, were seized, together with supplies of opium and burners. A long list of names, presumably of patrons, also was found.

Everything they do is funny, and their artistic method of doing it will captivate.

Brand newness is what Jarro, the humorist trickster, will purvey. He calls his biggest piece of work "Sawing a Lemon in Half," and he is really the only man on the stage today who can do this famous bit of work. Audiences which frequent Kelli's will not care to miss this remarkable piece of work.

"A Boy From Home," to be presented by Stephens & Bordeaux, has the charm of the country mixed with the speed of the city. This is an act comedy with few tears mixed in for real good measure. The aerialists soprano are the Chandon Trio—two women and a man—and their lives in all are worthy of the best circus performers in the world. "Merry Moments" is what Sam Green and Mildred Myra will offer, and it is a tickling skit. Frances Dougherty will give "The Girl with the Irish Smile," and she is well qualified to do this.

MEMORABLE SQUARE THEATRE The feature attractions at the Merrimack Square theatre for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday are Elaine Hammerstein in "Why Announce Your Marriage?" and Josephine Earle in "Branded," both most entertaining productions. A Harold Lloyd comedy and the International News complete the bill.

THE STRAND Harry Curry in "The Fox," the Universal super-production—the first of its kind ever filmed of the great and big west, will be shown for the first three days of the week at the Strand, starting today. Don't miss this exceptional opportunity of seeing a truly super-production that will thrill you as you have never been thrilled before. Miss Alice Lake in "The Infamous Miss Revelle" portrays a dual role in a story of exceptional worth. The comedy and weekly issues will contribute materially to the success and satisfaction of a most extraordinary offering.

OPERA HOUSE "The County Fair," Neil Burgess' famous rural comedy drama of New England life—a play that is familiar to most of us, will be the holiday attraction by Miss Marguerite Fields and her own company at the Opera House this week, starting with the first performance tonight and continuing twice daily thereafter. The coming local production of this over popular stage attraction of a generation or more will be given with all of its laboriousness and attention to detail of the original presentation. There will be the husking bee, the good, old-fashioned country kitchen, the barn dance and last but not least the great horse race scene in which Cold Molasses—a name as well known as the title of the play—comes home a winner and thus saves the old home-stand from being sold by an unscrupulous man, who holds a mortgage on the place. "This race is one of the biggest things of its kind ever shown on the stage. Three thoroughbred

DOINGS OF THE DUFFS

WELL, I TOOK A CHECK FOR THE RENT OVER TO THE LANDLORD TODAY AND KIDDED HIM ALONG A LITTLE—TOLD HIM I JUST FORGOT ABOUT IT—HE ACTED ALL RIGHT AFTER I EXPLAINED I GUESS THERE ARE A LOT OF BIRDS THAT WOULD LIKE TO GRAB OFF A NICE LITTLE PLACE LIKE THIS IF THEY COULD GET IT.

I UNDERSTAND THIS HOUSE IS FOR RENT—I'D LIKE TO LOOK AT IT—

THERE IS SOME MISTAKE ABOUT THIS—THIS HOUSE IS NOT FOR RENT

OH, I HEARD IT WAS WOULD YOU MIND TELLING ME WHAT RENT YOU PAY HERE?

I PAY $200 A MONTH HERE

TWO HUNDRED DOLLARS A MONTH FOR THIS OLD DUMP! CAN YOU BEAT THAT!—WELL YOU'RE THE FELL GUY! YOU'RE WELCOME TO IT, MY BOY—YOU'RE WELCOME!

THERE IS SOMEONE AT THE DOOR NOW!
